SENATE ADOPTS LIAISON BILL AS AID TO WORKER

Plan to Name Officer Is Made Amendment to Recovery Measure.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Senate last night voted unanimously for appointment of a Federal liaison officer to adjust the grievances of Government workers.

The unexpected action came on motion of Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), Montana. He offered the Sirovich bill, now pending in the House, as an amendment to the President's recovery measure.

Prolonged discussion would have jeopardized the amendment, but there was no objection. Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York, had seen to that. He passed the entire week in conference with administration officials and senators, smoothing the way to passage.

Recourse of Employes.

The liberal measure, the first bright spot in two years glutted with adverse Federal employe legislation, is of particular significance at a time when reorganization and extensive economy plans hold the seeds of individual injustices on a wide front.

If last night's action is confirmed by House conferees, an employe definitely discriminated against by an unfair superior can carry his complaint to the liaison officer, with assurance of a fair settlement.

The measure establishes a board of appeal within the Civil Service Commission. The board would consist of the three commissioners, and to this board appeals could be carried if objection is made to the finding of the liaison officer. The board's decision would be final.

The newly created post would be entirely independent of the executive departments and independent offices, but the officer would cooperate with the Civil Service Commissioners on all important matters.

Backing Is Obtained.

Representative Sirovich originally brought forward the plan last week in the House. He conferred with Budget Director Douglas and President Mitchell of the Civil Service Commission, and they agreed to support it.

Late in the week it was put to its first test when the Senate had up the independent offices bill. Senator James F. Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, who announced he had not had time to study the measure, raised a point of order when it was offered by Senator Wheeler.

In the days intervening Dr. Sirovich further perfected the plan and held further discussion with inter-

Basil Manly Named To Power Commission

D.C. Economist Included in Appointment List Sent to Senate.

The nomination of Basil M. Manly, Washington economist, as a member of the Federal Power Commission was included in a long list of Presidential appointments sent to the Senate yesterday as the last-minute patronage rush continued. Admiral William H. Standley was named as Chief of Naval Operations.

Rapidly converting the Home Loan Bank Board into a Republican refuge, President Roosevelt named Russell Hawkins, of Oregon, as a member to join Walter H. Newton, of Minneapolis, whose nomination for the board was sent up Thursday. Mr. Hawkins' name was also on Thursday's list as a member of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but it was later found that his district was already represented in the corporation. For this reason Hawkins' earlier nomination was withdrawn by the President, but not before it had been approved by a Senate committee.

MORGAN QUIZ ENDS; LISTS ARE DEFENDED

Banker Assails Criticism of Firm's Clients in Statement.

(Associated Press.)

J. P. Morgan, in a final statement, as Senate investigators closed their inquiry into his firm, yesterday defended the practice of selling stocks to selected lists of clients.

The financier criticized publication of the lists of clients of his firm, saying it had brought "unjust criticism" upon the customers. Referring to the special lists, the banker, in his prepared statement, said:

"Our lists of private subscribers were naturally composed of men of affairs and position; but they were selected because of established business and personal relations, and not because of any actual or potential political relations.

"We never have had occasion to ask for favors from legislators or persons in public office, nor have we ever done so. We conduct our business through no means or measures of 'influence' of favor. We rely upon such confidence as our clients and the business community generally may repose in us.

"The same is true of our loans to personal clients. It has never before been considered wrong to borrow money or to lend it. Our loans were to men of high standing against ample security.

"The unprecedented depreciation in securities which has since occurred has caused certain of the borrowers heavy losses, against which we have created ample reserves.

"It seems extraordinary that, after 70 years devoted to building up a good-will which has made it true that our clients are men of affairs and of leadership, we should be taken to task for perfectly sound, honorable and straight-forward business transactions with them, simply because chance has

Central Brazil Freezes As Cold Wave Persists

Below freezing temperature was recorded at Friburgo, Rio de Janeiro State. It was 2 degrees above freezing at Sao Paulo.

Still Secret

White House Parley Fails to Reveal New D. C. Commissioners.

Identity of the new District Commissioners remained a mystery last night. Although it had been said that President Roosevelt would name the two new civilian Commissioners yesterday, he did not do so.

The Commissioners were the subject of a conference between President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley following a meeting with several of his other Cabinet officers.

Preceding the conference, the President said he hoped to be able to announce his selections. Following the conference Mr. Farley said he did not know when the President would make his decision.

So far as the identity of the new Commissioners goes, it seemed to be something of a guessing contest which might be likened to the old nursery rhyme about see-saw, Marjory Daw. According to the best information in the possession of the supporters of this or that candidate, about a dozen men were about to be named to the two posts.

MATTERN SPEEDING ON BELATED FLIGHT

Hopelessly Behind Schedule Crossing Siberia for Pacific Hop.

Moscow, Saturday, June 10 (A.P.). Jimmie Mattern was speeding today toward Khabarovsk, jumping-off place for the transpacific leg of his round-the-world flight, after taking off at 1:50 a. m., Moscow time (5:50 p. m., Friday, Eastern standard time), at Beloye, Siberia.

The Texas aviator passed over Irkutsk, Siberia, at 2:30 a. m., Moscow time (6:30 p. m., Friday, Eastern standard time). He was hopelessly behind the pace set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty when they flung up the world circling record of 8 days 15 hours 51 minutes in 1931.

Mattern, however, had made a quick recovery from a mishap in the air which almost cost him his life, and he was on his way to set up an enviable mark for the first solo flight around the globe.

The lone flier stopped overnight at Beloye. He flew there, with only one stop en route, from Belovo, where overpowering fumes from a leaking gas line caused him to make a forced landing Wednesday, the airman made Krasnoyarsk in fairly good time. He remained there only long enough to take on fuel and to make superficial repairs.

He had intended to stay in Krasnoyarsk long enough to rest and to have permanent repairs completed. On the landing at Belovo the tail was broken.

Continuing from Krasnoyarsk, he flew to Beloye, which is only 50 miles west of Irkutsk near the Manchurian border. Apparently he landed there as the Siberian night settled over the steppes rather than attempt the hazardous flight over Lake Baikal and the high mountains in that region in darkness.

No details came out of Siberia either about the landing in Krasnoyarsk or in Beloye, but apparently the aviator was well recovered from the nauseous effects of the gas fumes and his plane was in good flying order.

An indication that he was trying to make up for lost time, despite the fact that he hardly has a chance now to beat the round-the-world record set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, was seen in the fact that he stayed in Krasnoyarsk only 4 hours and 25 minutes. If he had carried out his original intention he would have been there several more hours.

Fist Fights Mark Teachers' Parade

Chicago, June 9 (A.P.).—Fists flew and several persons were mauled today as demonstrating unpaid teachers paraded through the Loop and crashed through traffic. Nearly 10,000 persons participated in the demonstration.

The disorders occurred when some of the marchers, irritated because police permitted street cars to move along during the parade, became involved in arguments.

First hint of trouble came when police with raised clubs rode along the edge of the parade. Men teachers sought to interfere with them on the ground they were harrassing women teachers. Several fist fights broke out.

Beer Action on June 19 By Legislature of Idaho

Boise, Idaho, June 9 (A.P.).—Gov. C. Ben Ross today called a special session of the Idaho Legislature for June 19 to consider legalization of 3.2 beer and other beverages containing not more than that percentage of alcohol by weight.

HEAT HERE SETS YEAR'S RECORD; 2 VICTIMS DEAD

More Than Score Are Prostrated as Mercury Rises to 100.

Two deaths, more than a score of prostrations, buckling and cracking pavements and a stifled, sweltering population marked a rampaging thermometer which reached a new season record of 100 degrees at 3:15 p. m. yesterday.

All the public schools were closed at noon. The decision of authorities was hastened when five children at the Langley Junior High School were overcome during the morning hours. Clerks in several Government agencies where the heat was unbearable were released early in the afternoon.

Slight Relief Due Today.

Slightly lower temperatures are expected today, the Weather Bureau says, because of partial cloudiness. No real break in the heat wave is in prospect, however.

John Nowlan, 80 years old, fell dead in the road near Clifton Station, Va., from the effects of the heat. He was found by Earl Ambler, who notified persons at Clifton. Mr. Nowlan was a lifelong resident of that neighborhood.

John Wallace, 30, colored, of 2128 Virginia avenue northwest, died at Emergency Hospital after collapsing at Fourteenth street and Constitution avenue.

Heat Cases at Hospitals.

According to hospital records, the following received treatment as heat cases:

John Hatton, 47, of 507 H street southwest; Thomas Moran, overcome at the Potomac Electric Power Co. Building; Harry McDougall, 29, of 2117 Third street northeast; Grace Mance, 20, of 503 Twentieth street northwest; A. J. Gardner, 32, of 1307 Thirty-fifth street northwest; Mrs. Collins, Harry Green, Odell Johnson, Fanney Welch, Marie Eillierd, Anthony Lee, 32, of 810 New Hampshire avenue; T. H. Two Officials Shot In Bold Bank Raid

Ihlen, Minn., June 9 (A.P.).—Wounding the president and cashier of the Ihlen State Bank in a raid late today, four machine gun bandits kidnaped four men, including one of the wounded bankers, to facilitate their flight out of town. The amount of the loot was not immediately ascertained.

The four hostages were released about a mile out of town after a wild ride through the main street which the robbers peppered with machine gun bullets as they fled. William Arndt, barber, had dashed into the street with a rifle but held his fire when he espied the hostages clinging to the runing board of the robber automobile.

Ted Arp, cashier, shot three times in the back, was believed to be dying. Joe Evenson, the bank's president, was shot in the leg.

Medicinal Liquor Ruling Causes Shortage of Whisky

Doran Points Out Severe Drain on Stocks; Only 4,500,000 Gallons of Prewar Left; Production May Be Speeded Up.

(Copyright, 1933, by the Associated Press.)

The liberalized medicinal liquor regulations have faced the Treasury with the possibility of a shortage in whisky and officials are considering a proposal to speed up distillery production to meet the situation.

No specific reports have been received since the change in the medicinal liquor laws last month, but James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, said yesterday preliminary surveys indicated there had been a severe drain upon the present stocks.

In addition, he said, if the prohibition amendment should be repealed, there was a possibility that it would be several years before American distilleries could begin to meet the demand.

Pointing to the pressure the administration has exerted for early ratification of the repeal substitute for the eighteenth amendment and the quest for additional revenue, Doran said:

"I can see nothing in the signs to indicate that repeal will not come during the winter."

"If it does we have a definite problem on our hands and I have recommended to the Treasury that additional distilling be considered shortly."

At the Treasury it was said the matter had not been inquired into thoroughly yet.

Last month, when modification of the medicinal liquor laws became effective, there were upward of 4,500,000 gallons of pre-war spirits in warehouses, besides 6,000,000 gallons which will begin to mature in the fall.

10 ARE KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF CELLULOID

Bathers Burned, Houses Fired by Blast in New Jersey Plant.

North Arlington, N. J., June 9 (A.P.).—Ten persons were reported killed and several others are believed to have been fatally burned in an explosion tonight that wrecked the Atlantic Pyroxylin Waste Co., dealers in celluloid scrap at 316 River road.

The blast filled the air with burning pieces of celluloid and set fire to six homes and a garage within a radius of 150 feet. Police reported a gasoline tank exploded in the garage and caused the deaths of several persons whose clothing was ignited.

Three in one family died when their home burned.

List of Fatalities.

The reported list of known dead: Harry Applegar, Mrs. Harry Applegar, his wife; Applegar child, Mrs. Joseph Klitch, Margaret Klitch, 13, Mr. and Mrs. William Dale, Mrs. Margaret La Tone, Mr. and Mrs. William Dale.

One witness of the blast, John Jackson, said the first tower of flame that shot through the roof of the low cement-block structure was 200 feet high, that this was followed by a second terrific spurt of flame, and that an automobile passing the plant at the moment was enveloped in flames and destroyed.

Bathers Are Burned.

At the time of the explosion, a small crowd of men, women and children were bathing in the Passaic River from a small beach near the factory. Flames shot from broken doors and windows and burned many of the bathers, igniting the clothes of some.

It was believed as many as 75 persons were burned. The opinion was expressed by firemen and police that other bodies may lie in the ruins of the houses destroyed by the fire.

Firemen said the explosion was probably caused by spontaneous combustion as a result of the heat.

Elliott Roosevelt Denies New Love

Reno, Nev., June 9 (A.P.).—Elliott Roosevelt, back in Nevada again to complete his divorce residence, today branded as "absolutely untrue" reports linking him in a romance with Miss Ruth Googins, of Fort Worth.

Disregarding advice of his attorney, Samuel Platt, not to talk, Elliott laughingly denied Miss Googins was more than just a friend, and indicated he does not intend to remarry after his contemplated divorce next month from the former Elizabeth Bonner, of Philadelphia

Roosevelt returned to Nevada last night from Los Angeles, where his plans for a divorce were revealed by himself and his mother.

Senate Votes Tax Returns' Publicity

(Associated Press.)

The Senate last night voted to open income tax returns to public inspection.

It adopted, by 55 to 27, an amendment to the industrial bill by Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, providing for publicity for income tax returns.

La Follette contended this could do more to correct "abuses" disclosed in the banking committee's investigation than any other legislative step.

Recovery Bill Passed By Senate; Congress May Adjourn Today

U. S. Offers to Accept Own Bonds for Debts

Britain Cables President, Postponing Its Final Decision.

London, June 9 (U.P.).—The British government tonight cabled a new war debts note to Washington, for communication to President Roosevelt.

The note was decided upon at a lengthy session of the cabinet, presided over by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald. The cabinet withheld its final decision on meeting or defaulting the June 15 payment to the United States until the President replies.

The government dispatched the war debts note after Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief of the United States delegation to the world economic conference, had rejected urgent efforts of Prime Minister MacDonald to inject the delicate war debts question into discussions during the parley convening here Monday.

Hull's rejection occurred at a

Notifies 13 Nations of Payments Due and Revised Plan.

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

The United States delivered notes yesterday to 13 nations reminding them of their war debt payments due next Thursday but offered to allow them to pay in American Government securities instead of cash.

The offer to permit payment in securities took the form of announcement that the Treasury will waive the requirement of 30 days' notice which debtors are obligated in their agreements to give if they elect to pay in securities instead of dollars.

This action came only six days before installments totaling almost $144,000,000 are due from the debtors and at a moment when general default is widely regarded as imminent, owing to their unwillingness or inability to pay. The British Cabinet had just met and sent a note to President Roosevelt in an eleventh

COMPROMISE WINS ON VETERANS' SLASH

House Accepts Modifications of President's Plan; 25 Per Cent Limit.

(Associated Press.)

Modification of President Roosevelt's compromise proposal on veterans' cuts was accepted yesterday by Democratic House leaders and plans were made for substituting it today for the Senate amendment to the independent offices appropriation bill.

Both sides yielded to reach the agreement after almost a week of negotiations.

The veterans' advocates in the House, working with House leaders, won on their point to limit reductions on service-connected and in presumptive cases to 25 per cent. The President held to his principle of permitting the Government to strike from the rolls presumptive cases found not to be service connected.

The President yielded, however, to the requests of the House members for provisions for Spanish-American War Veterans who are 55 or older

The main points in the compromise, to be acted on today in the House, are:

No service-connected veteran shall receive a cut in compensation of more than 25 per cent.

Veterans presumed to have disabilities or disease due to service are to remain on the rolls until October 31, although their present compensation is to be reduced 25 per cent.

As many boards as necessary are to be created by the President to review the presumptive cases with a

Capital Man Killed In Auto Accident

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., June 9.—James W. Rouser, 21, of Washington, was killed and Miss Ida Crouse, 56, also of Washington, injured when an automobile in which they were riding was sideswiped by another car near Catoctin Furnace last night. Mr. Rouser and Miss Crouse were returning to the Capital after a short vacation at home.

The impact caused the Rouser car to upset, and Mr. Rouser was hurled through the roof and landed on the hard road on his head, fracturing his skull, from which he died instantly. Miss Crouse received lacerations and bruises, but will recover. The car was wrecked.

Mr. Rouser is a son of the former postmaster of Thurmont, Morris L. Rouser, and has been residing in Washington for some time.

Julian Besteiro Declines Premiership of Spain

Madrid, June 9 (A.P.).—President Niceto Alcala Zamora's first offer of the premiership after two days of seeking to create a new government for Spain was declined tonight by Julian Besteiro, president of Congress and a Socialist.

It was reported in presidential circles that Felipe Sanchez Roman, independent Republican, would be the next man offered the post as successor to Manuel Azana, who resigned early yesterday.

TAXATION DEADLOCK IS BROKEN IN HOUSE

Budget Balancing Proposal Now Virtually Assured of Enactment.

(Associated Press.)

Continuance of the 1-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, reduction of local postage from 3 to 2 cents and transfer of the 3 per cent power tax from consumer to producer were virtually upon the law books last night as the House broke a deadlock of many weeks over the proposals.

Overriding the opposition of Democratic leaders, the House by a vote of 196 to 182 approved an amendment insisted upon by the Senate to exempt municipally owned electric plants from the 3 per cent power tax.

The House acted in instructing its conferees, who had refused to accept the amendment put forward by Senator Johnson (Republican), California.

Only the technical formality of Senate approval remains before sending the measure to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

The bill is on the administration's budget-balancing program. It continues the gasoline tax for another year from June 30. This is estimated to return $135,000,000.

Besides reducing the "drop-letter" postage, it authorizes President Roosevelt to decrease the first-class

Asuncion, Paraguay, June 9 (A.P.). The ministry of war reported today that Paraguayan airplanes "successfully bombed" Fort Saavedra, a Bolivian stronghold in the Gran Chaco, and an aerial base where several Bolivian planes were stationed.

An intense Bolivian attack on Fort Nanawa was reported repelled.

Price Fair

On $1.40 Kits, Is Private Opinion of Senators Making Quiz.

(Associated Press.)

Still busy comparing prices at which toilet articles might be bought for reforestation camp workers, members of a Senate military subcommittee yesterday privately said they believed that $1.40 paid Be Vier & Co., of New York, was fair.

They declined to permit use of their names, but the group included one senator who has been highly critical of the kit transaction.

As looked on by them in informal comment, the Be Vier kit was worth the money considering the quality of the articles, but they added one of such quality possibly should not have been purchased.

Harry Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War, advised the committee inquiring into the purchase of 200,000 of the kits by Robert Fechner, reforestation work director, that he felt the purchase was "extravagant."

The subcommittee hopes to report to the full Military Committee today.

Major Administration Measures Enacted in Record Time.

Sales Tax Rejected as Revenue Source for Public Works.

(Associated Press.)

In a day and night of steaming action, Congress made ready yesterday to head homeward, probably today, from three months of unprecedented peace-time legislative activity.

Passage by the Senate of the industry control-public works bill sent to conference the last of the major measures on the administration's calendar for action. It left before the Senate a bill to provide funds for the operation of the new farm credit agency and there was a distinct possibility that this would be disposed of rapidly today.

Except for this, the other bills on the program either were at the White House or were traveling down Pennsylvania avenue for the presidential signature.

Three Bills Approved.

In the last few hours of yesterday's session, action was completed on:

A measure creating a coordinator to bring order and profit into the railroad business.

A bill creating a $2,000,000,000 organization to aid home owners.

A tax measure continuing for a year the 1-cent gasoline levy, giving the President power to lower postal rates and transferring from the producer to the consumer the 3 per cent electricity tax.

The major measures left pending as a tired Senate went home after 13 hours of work, were the industrial bill, to be finally determined in conference, and the veterans' dispute pending in the independent offices appropriation bill in the House.

Hawaii Bill Pending.

Several other measures of secondary importance, including one to give President Roosevelt power to name a nonresident Goveror of Hawaii, still had to be acted upon by the Senate, but members considered that the House measures might be accepted intact.

Forming an impenetrable cordon around the major provisions of the industrial bill, the Democratic majority brought the administration's business recovery measure through the Senate last night in virtually the same form as it had come to the floor.

Driving back amendment after amendment, the administration forces marched straight ahead to the final vote which sent the bill back to the House for agreement to amendments. The bill is the last major measure of the President's special session program.

Final Vote 57 to 24.

The whirlwind finish at the end of more than a 12-hour session gave a final vote for the bill of 57 ayes to 24 against, virtually the same count by which the Senate only on hour before had rejected the sales tax as a method of raising the necessary funds to finance the $3,300,000,000 public works section.

Another key section of the bill pro-

3 MONTHS REPAIR PERIODS FOR NAVY

Economy Program Turns Bluejackets From Guns to Carpenter Shop.

(Associated Press.)

Bluejackets will spend a little less time in the gun turrets and more lending a hand to the ship's carpenter during the next twelve months.

Battleships, carriers and cruisers were ordered by the Navy Department yesterday to spend three months of the next fiscal year in one or another Navy yard. Heretofore, the normal repair period has been from four to six weeks.

To meet the drastic curtailment of funds, the department also ordered fewer gun practices and maneuvers and more repair and overhaul work for the ships' crews.

Navy yard workers will be fewer under the economy program, the order pointed out, and therefore more repair and overhaul work will devolve upon the fighting men.

The decision to bring ships into the yards for longer periods will make possible the maintenance of all ships for those classes in full commissioned status and orders placing those types in fleet rotating reserve for periods of six months out of the year were revoked.

All aircraft will remain in full commissioned status. Submarines and destroyers will be continued on a rotating basis. Four light minelayers also will remain commissioned.

To meet the cuts, the operations of fleet will be drastically curtailed. There will be no war problem during the fiscal year and all maneuvers, gunnery practices and the like will be performed on a limited schedule.

The order pointed out that economies will cause a reduction from 79,700 to 77,000 in men and that ships' complements would be reduced from the present 82.5 of normal strength to 75 per cent normal.

Congress Is Asked To Fund Deficiency

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt yesterday asked Congress to make deficiency appropriations of around $66,000,000 to finance steps in his economic program and the House Appropriations Committee immediately went to work on his request.

Likewise, the President asked $265,000 as additional expense money for the Federal Trade Commission, for work necessitated by passage of the securities bill; $232,086 for payments to Pueblo Indians; $100,000 for the Senate to continue its banking investigation, and $125,001 for the State Department.

House leaders planned to agree upon the appropriations and have them ready for action on the floor after the veterans' legislation is disposed of today.

Those present at the conference with the President included, in addition to Mr. Douglas, Secretary of the Navy Swanson, Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, Postmaster General Farley and Secretary of Commerce Roper, who has been in charge of the reorganization plans.

President Leaves Thursday For Maine Coast Cruising

Will See Franklin, Jr., Receive Diploma at Groton Before Going to Sea on 41-Foot Schooner Amberjack II.

Breaking his months in office with his first extended trip away from Washington, President Roosevelt will leave next Thursday for his cruise up and down the coast.

By the tentative schedule, the President will leave Washington June 15, arriving at Groton, Mass., the next day. His son, Franklin, jr., will be graduated from Groton School in the presence of his father the following day.

After the graduation the President will go aboard the 41-foot schooner Amberjack II at some undetermined spot along the coast, possibly at Marblehead. The crew of the schooner for this step of the trip has not been definitely selected, although his son, James Roosevelt, will be aboard. President Roosevelt will be the skipper throughout the cruise in the Amberjack.

A week later, on June 22, the schooner and her crew will arrive at Portland, Me., where Franklin, jr., and another son, John, will come aboard. Stopping only for supplies in Portland, the President will then put out to sea again, heading for Eastport, Me., and his mother's home on Campobello Island. He expects to sight Eastport on June 26.

After a few days at Eastport, he will board the U. S. S. Indianapolis, one of the new 10,000-ton cruisers, for the return trip down the coast. Earlier plans to land at Baltimore have been dropped, it was said, and instead the cruiser will come as far up the Potomac River as the depth of water will allow. When the Indianapolis is finally stopped, the President will transship to a destroyer and complete his voyage to Washington.

President Roosevelt plans to remain here all through July, but he may go to his summer home at Hyde Park, N. Y., in August. Tentative plans call for him to spend the first week of August in New York, returning to Washington for a week or ten days. After this short stay here he may go back to Hyde Park for another week or ten days.

BLOODHOUNDS HUNT 5 LORTON FUGITIVES

Two of Seven Convicts Are Captured Nearby After Morning Break.

Prison guards, with bloodhounds, continued to scour northern Virginia last night in search of five of the seven convicts who escaped Thursday and yesterday from the Lorton Reformatory.

Five made their getaway early yesterday by sawing a hole in the wood-and-slate roof of their dormitory and sliding to the ground on bed-sheet ropes. These prisoners were Vernon Story, 35, serving from two to five years for robbery; William Phillips, 24, serving from two to three years for grand larceny; William Davis, 38, serving ten years for housebreaking; Walter Carron, 28, serving from one to two years for housebreaking, and Archie Lyles, 23, serving from three to four years for larceny and violation of the narcotic act.

Davis was recaptured near the prison shortly after the break was discovered, and Lyles was taken into custody about 6 miles away early yesterday.

Those who escaped Thursday were August Pagliocthini, 27, serving from two and a half to four years for housebreaking, and Wilbur Broadway, 23, serving from one and a half to two years for grand larceny.

Senate to Resume Probe in Louisiana

(Associated Press.)

A resumption of the Senate investigation into Louisiana's 1932 Democratic senatorial primary shortly after Congress quits was agreed upon yesterday among members of the investigating committee, but at the same time they expressed themselves as decidedly against any wide "excursion" into the State's political arena.

Informally expressing their opinions in private, a majority of the Senate's special campaign funds investigating committee held to the view that the renewed probe should confine its inquiry to the defeat of former Senator E. S. Broussard, seeking renomination, by Senator John Overton.

In their opinion, the previous inquiry, involving Senator Huey P. Long, took in "too much background" of Long's past history and was of insufficient merit to warrant action to unseat either Overton or Long.

5 Chinese Indicted For Tax Evasions

Honolulu, June 9 (A.P.).—Financial returns amounting to more than $2,500,000 in five years, partly from unexplained sources, were the basis for Federal grand jury indictments of five Chinese on charges of evasion of income taxes today.

Indictments were returned against Samuel K. Young, manager of the Yee Hop Co., one of the largest retail markets of Honolulu, charged with evading taxes on $64,535 in income, and four other Chinese for alleged evasion of taxes on approximately $90,000 additional. In some instances, the Government charged, no retruns were made, while in other cases larger amounts were credited to "other income."

Investigation of the defendants' financial status began two years ago after a Department of Justice inquiry into banking activities of other Chinese in connection with an alleged opium ring.

ested employe groups, the Budget Director and the Civil Service Commission.

When it was called up last night by Senator Wheeler, Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, in charge of the recovery bill, announced he would raise no objection providing no time-consuming discussion ensued. There was practically no discussion. Senator Wheeler briefly outlined the purposes of the amendment, and it was unanimously agreed to.

The proposed liaison officer, who would be selected from the ranks of civil service employes 20 years in the service, would be empowered to "hear, investigate and adjust all differences betwene employes and their superiors." Appeals of employes would be without prejudice to them.

The Civil Service Commission, at the request of the liaison officer, would furnish necessary equipment and assistance to aid him in his task by transfers from the civil service rolls. He would draw a salary of $6,000 a year.

Shoe Factory Raises Wages.

Binghamton, N. Y., June 9 (A.P.).—A wage increase of 5 per cent for the 17,000 employes of the Endicott-Johnson Corporation, shoe manufacturers, was announced today. The increase is effective next Monday.

ALLEN IS SENTENCED IN I'M ALONE CASE

Defendant Gets 18 Months 4 Years After Guards Sink Rum Boat.

Opelousas, La., June 9 (U.P.).—Frank Allen was sentenced to 18 months in Federal prison today in connection with the I'm Alone case. He will be eligible for parole after six months.

Allen was the only one of four defendants found guilty by a jury in Federal Court here last night.

The I'm Alone, a Canadian schooner purportedly laden with liquor, was sunk by Coast Guardsmen in the Gulf four years ago.

Judge Ben C. Dawkins suspended sentence on Asa Stein, in the same case. Stein had pleaded guilty at Lake Charles. The bond of A. Delaune, also charged in the case, was cancelled and sentence was deferred until the next term of court.

Prayer Advocated For London Parley

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Dr. Albert W. Beaven, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, issued a call today for all churches to join Sunday in prayer for the success of the world economic conference, which will open in London the next day.

"Although the subjects to be discussed by the representatives of the Governments at the London conference may appear to be only technical and commercial," said Dr. Beaven, "every item carries with it implications of vast moral and spiritual significance.

"The economic well-being of the peoples of the world is a matter of genuine concern to churches which care what happens to human personality and whose Master had compassion on the multitudes."

New Drive Planned On Tax Evasions

(Associated Press.)

A vigorous drive to ferret out and subject to possible criminal prosecution persons making stock transactions designed to "evade or reduce" income tax payments was announced last night by Guy T. Helvering, new Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Mr. Helvering disclosd that as a result of publicity given cases "now under consideration by public officers relating to sales by taxpayers to members of their families" citizens in various parts of the country were filing amended returns and reporting additional taxes.

"The bureau is now making and intends to make exhaustive investigations where losses have been claimed due to transactions of this type," a statement from Helvering's office said.

Senate Adopts Report On Rail Economy Bill

(Associated Press.)

The Senate last night adopted the conference report on the administration's railroad economy-coordinator bill, completing congressional action. The report was agreed to without a word of debate and another of the administration's major bills was removed from the path to speedy adjournment.

luncheon with the prime minister, immediately preceding the session of the British cabinet.

The note, it was reported in reliable quarters, offered to pay one-fourth of the $79,950,000 instalment as a gesture of good faith, or possibly one-half, entirely in gold.

Paris, June 9 (A.P.).—Another French default when the war debt payment to the United States falls due next Thursday became clearly evident today after the Chamber of Deputies recorded two smashing votes of confidence in the government of Premier Daladier.

The premier avoided even mention of the debt, although the time for action is fast disappearing. He will go to the world economic conference Sunday assured of Parliament's backing for his policy of international collaboration.

The first vote today, 405 to 169, came in supporting the government's opposition to an amendment on the order of the day, and the second, 413 to 163, was on a pure question of confidence. The votes backed up the government's economic policies for the world parley in London.

Deputy Fourgeot raised the only voice in favor of paying the United States, but his remarks caused hardly a ripple.

SON SHIELDS FATHER IN COUNTY DRY RAID

Prince Georges Man Fined $200 for Owning 200 Gallons of Whisky.

Exonerating his father from blame in connection with the illegal possession of 200 gallons of whisky, Otis Harrison, Suitland, Md., yesterday received the brunt of a $200 fine imposed by the Marlboro Police Court.

Harrison, with his father, Lorn Harrison, was apprehended on a farm near Suitland, on which a 300-gallon still was found later in operation. The men were found with a truck which was in the process of being loaded with the whisky and a quantity of mash. Oscar Beall, of the Prince Georges County police force, made the arrest.

The court also imposed a fine of $100 and costs on James Gilbert, 100 I street northwest, and $75 on John Barnes, of Forestville, Md. The men were charged with illegal possession of 100 gallons of whisky.

Barnes and Gilbert were found near a still, located in the vicinity of Centerville, Md., last Monday. A charge of manufacturing whisky was dismissed by Judge J. Chew Sheriff. Sergt. A. W. Hepburn, Private Elon Turner and Private R. A. Naylor, of the county police force, made the raid.

John M. Carroll, of Croome, Md., was held for the grand jury on a charge of not supporting his two children, Gladys, 2, and Ralph, 1. Bond was set at $500.

Mrs. Harmon was ill when brought to the prison here May 18 and was carried up the steps of the institution. Suffering from diabetes, she was transferred May 30 to the Robert W. Long Hospital and she died there yesterday.

RECOVERY MEASURE PASSED BY SENATE

vides for the regulation of industry through trade agreements to be worked out by the majority of the plants in an industry, with various committees of labor and industry and the Government to pass upon varying phases of the codes.

These would cover working hours, prices and output, with the President to have the authority to license those branches of the industry that fail to conform to the agreements worked out by the majority.

Tax Changes Voted.

The greatest changes in the long day and night session came as the Senate bore down into the taxing section. In rapid succession it voted for throwing income tax returns open to public inspection and then lifted the exemption that thus far has held tax free the income from securities of the Federal, State and municipal governments.

As the measure went back to the House, one of the principal differences in the form in which it came from that branch lay in the taxation provisions. The House had voted to raise the rates on income, in addition to lifting the present levies on gasoline.

Voicing the belief that industry should bear a greater part of the burden for financing the activities of the measure, Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee obtained agreement to a plan for putting additional taxes on corporations.

Vote Approving Bill.

The vote by which the bill finally passed was:

Republicans for the bill—Capper, Cutting, Frazier, Johnson, La Follette, McNary, Norris, Nye, Robinson of Indiana and Steiwer. Total, 10.

Manufacturing Plants Threatening Shutdowns

(Associated Press.)

The possibility of a shutdown of hundreds of manufacturing plants to avoid operation under the labor sections of the industrial regulation bill as amended by the Senate was reported yesterday by the National Association of Manufacturers.

At the offices of the association it was said that telegrams were pouring in, expressing vigorous opposition to the measure and threatening to close. One, for instance, from a Middle Western manufacturer, said he had been keeping his plant open to provide employment for 800 persons but that he would close it rather than submit to the labor provisions of the act.

Meanwhile, criticism came from cotton textile leaders who have been drafting a code of trade practices for the industry. They asserted in a statement that the action of the Senate in accepting the Borah amendment to the antitrust section made further discussions with Federal officials impossible.

NEW PACT WITH U. S. FORESEEN BY JAPAN

Foreign Office Says Efforts for Arbitration Pact Are Crystallizing.

Tokyo, Saturday, June 10 (A.P.) The foreign office informed the Associated Press today that efforts for a new Japanese-American arbitration treaty are "hopefully crystallizing."

The proposal was broached in the talks last month between President Roosevelt and Viscount Kukijiro Ishii, it was said at the foreign office. Mr. Roosevelt's attitude was so encouraging that the Tokyo foreign office is at present carefully studying the matter, although negotiations are not actually progressing, it was said.

This was learned after a foreign office spokesman had asserted that the Japanese government is gravely considering steps which would most effectively check "the British Empire's aggressive tariff and general commercial policies against Japan."

Chieftain of Doukhobors Arrested as Criminal

Winnipeg, June 9 (A.P.).—Peter Verigin, Doukhobor chieftain, was arrested here today on a warrant issued by W. A. Gordon, minister of immigration, charging him with "being an alien in Canada after having been convicted on a criminal charge."

The community leader, whose deportation two months ago was halted by a decision of the Nova Scotia superior court after he had been pardoned during an 18-month term in Prince Albert Jail for perjury, came down here last Monday, presumably to arrange for migration of his followers to Mexico.

Honolulu, June 9 (U.P.).—Arthur Carter, one of four youths arrested on charges of beating Lieuts. Leroy Hudson and Walter Lee, Army aviators, was fined $35 on battery charges by Police Judge Francis Brooks today. The other defendants were dismissed.

Carter's attorneys announced appeal plans. Judge Brooks severely criticized newspaper correspondents who sent stories to the mainland saying there had been an increase in civilian attacks on service men. Such charges, he declared, are unfounded.

President May Toss First Ball When Republicans Meet Rivals Today.

With President Roosevelt, Al Jolson, Gene Tunney and others on the program, the annual baseball game between Democrats and Republicans will get underway at 3:15 p. m. today at Griffith Stadium.

President Roosevelt has promised to be present to throw out the ball, if affairs of State do not interfere. Mr. Tunney, a Democrat, will umpire. Mr. Jolson, reported to be a Democrat, will assist in the umpiring part of the time. The comedian will hold a reception for members of the press, members of the committee in charge of the game and members of the opposing teams at 11 a. m. today at the Shorpham.

The afternoon's program will begin at 1:30 p. m. with a concert by the United States Marine and Army Band. At 2:30 p. m., there will be wrestling bouts between Joe Turner and Dutch Green and George Zaharias and Everett Marshall. Nick Altrock is expected to umpire.

Granville Gude, chairman of the entertainment committee, has promised to provide an elephant and a donkey, emblematic of the two parties, for the occasion.

Confidence of winning the game was expressed last night by both Representative Charles D. Millard, manager of the Republican team, and Representative Edward A. Kelly, manager of the Democrats. A silver cup, donated by Thomas L. Morgan, will be presented to the winning team.

2 Escaped Cumberland Convicts Are Captured

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., June 9.—The office of State's Attorney William A. Huster was advised late today by police of Kansas City, Mo., of the capture of William Chenowith and Meredith Morgan, who had escaped from the State penal farm near Hagerstown.

The men are also wanted in this section on charges of robbery. They escaped May 26 in company with two others, Earl Gouker and James Gassage, who were apprehended by the Kansas City police yesterday. Chenowith is a native of this city and was sentenced from People's Court here, for stealing an automobile. He was a truck driver at the penal farm.

Youth, 17, Denies Killing of Mother

Nashville, Tenn., June 9 (A.P.).—Balfe MacDonald, 17-year-old Flint Mich., youth, today denied charges that he killed his mother, and his counsel said he would resist Michigan's efforts to return the boy there for trial.

Meanwhile, Federal authorities said charges of attempted extortion to which MacDonald and his 16-year-old companion—William Terwilliger, of Flint—pleaded guilty, would not be dropped unless Michigan could make out a good case.

MacDonald was questioned for an hour by Federal officials late today. They said the questions related to Federal charges and shed no light on the murder case.

U. S. OFFERS TO TAKE ITS BONDS ON DEBTS

hour effort to avoid a complete impasse.

Diplomatic authorities regarded reminders of payment as routine, although they considered the general voluntary offer to waive the 30-day clause as unprecedented.

The Treasury previously has waived this requirement when a debtor found shortly before payment was due that it would be more convenient to pay in government securities than in cash, but has not usually offered the plan.

Some diplomats yesterday interpreted the action as a small gesture of good will toward them, but they doubted its usefulness because most Government bonds are quoted above par in the market. Debtors have used payment in bonds at face value when they could get them in the market below par.

The notes were delivered to embassies and legations here yesterday by messenger from the State Department, which stated that it acted on behalf of the Treasury.

Notes were dispatched to the countries listing their June 15 obligations as follows: Great Britain, $75,950,000; France, $40,738,568; Italy, $13,545,438; Poland, $3,559,062; Belgium, $6,325,000; Czechoslovakia, $1,500,000; Roumania, $1,000,000; Estonia, $284,322; Yugoslavia, $275,000; Finland, $148,592; Latvia, $118,961; Lithuania, $132,091, and Hungary, $28,260.

The Treasury customarily reminds debtors of their obligations at least 30 days before they are due.

President Hopes For Tariff Pacts

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt is hopeful of a general tariff agreement at the London economic conference but has decided not to ask Congress now for power to raise or lower tariff rates in accordance with prospective treaties.

If a general tariff understanding is reached at London he intends to negotiate thereafter bilateral treaties dealing with the subject with individual nations. These treaties will be submitted to the next session of Congress for ratification.

As outlined in his campaign, the President hopes to bring about a world-wide lowering of tariff walls in an endeavor to stimulate trade.

City Bankrupt Bill Passed by House

(Associated Press.)

The municipal bankruptcy bill was passed late yesterday by the House and sent to the Senate to take an uncertain place on a crowded calendar.

The measure, permitting cities and other taxing subdivisions to work out debt adjustments with the approval of a Federal court and two-thirds of the bond holders, met many delays in the House and there was no certain indication that it would squeeze through the Senate in the last-minute jam.

Senator Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, had hoped to get before the Senate today an identical bill he introduced and which was referred to a judiciary subcommittee. A last-minute attempt to kill the bill by sending it back to committee was rejected in the House by 172 to 192.

'OTHERS DID SAME' MITCHELL CONTENDS

Medalie Aids Defense as U. S. Agents Balk at Disclosing Facts.

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—With Charles E. Mitchell's own story told, the defense pushed toward the end of its case at the banker's income tax evasion trial today with technical testimony concerning the transactions by which the Government claims it was defrauded of $850,000 taxes in 1929 and 1930.

Attorney Max D. Steuer sought to show that Mitchell, in omitting to report $666,666.666 from the National City Co. management fund, merely followed the practice of the other officers who participated in the $1,860,000 melon.

He sought this evidence from a couple of Internal Revenue agents and ran into a tangle of red tape that had him exasperated in the sweltering courtroom until United States Attorney George Z. Medalie, himself, cleared the situation.

Agents Fearful of Penalties.

The agents balked at discussing the 1929 tax return of Stanley A. Russell, a National City vice president, who was said by previous witnesses to have omitted reporting his share of the management fund. The agents held that to do so would subject them to loss of their jobs, $1,000 fine and a jail term.

Joseph R. Baradel, in charge of the lower Manhattan revenue district, demurred at identifying Russell's return, although Russell himself arose and said he was willing to have the information made public.

"There are certain methods for disclosing such information," Baradel objected, "but this is not one of them."

Medalie Aids Defense.

"Well, what is it you want to do?" Steuer inquired.

"I don't want to do anything," the witness answered. "This might mean a $1,000 fine or that I'd lose my job or go to jail."

As Steuer registered his disgust Medalie intervened.

"Do you have in mind a statute and Treasury regulation," the prosecutor asked, "which says that an agent loses his job if he does not protest at such a request in court?"

"He not only loses his job, but he is fined $1,000 and goes to jail," Baradel said.

"Under what conditions can he produce such records?"

"Only at the request of the United States attorney."

"Well, I request you to produce them."

At that Baradel promptly handed the documents to Steuer and the questioning proceeded.

They were married June 27, 1926, and separated today, the complaint recited.

It was the second action Miss Murray has filed, a previous complaint instituted in August, 1931, based on cruelty, being dismissed a few days later when the couple became reconciled.

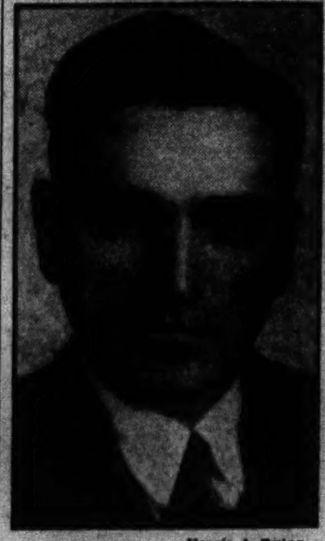
Robert B. Smith Is Named Chief Public Ledger Correspondent.



Harris & Ewing.
ROBERT B. SMITH.

Robert B. Smith, correspondent here for the Philadelphia Public Ledger and author of the feature, "The Diary of the 97th Senator," which appears in The Sunday Post, has been appointed head of the Public Ledger's Washington bureau, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Smith, who lives at 3104 P street northwest, has been in newspaper work in Washington about 20 years. As head of the bureau here he will succeed Clinton W. Gilbert, who died a few days ago.

Born in Dover, Ohio, in 1891, Mr. Smith began his newspaper activity in Ohio in 1907. Here he has worked for the United Press, the International News Service and the Chicago Tribune, as well as the Public Ledger. His connection with the Philadelphia paper began in 1924.

TENNESSEE'S LYNCH VICTIMS ARE FOUND

Bodies of 2 Youths, Held in Murder of 4, Are Bullet-Riddled.

Huntsville, Tenn., June 9 (A.P.).—The bullet-torn bodies of Jerome Boyett, 22, and Harvey Winchester, 23, white prisoners taken from the Scott County Jail last night by approximately 25 armed men, were found today in a woods near a roadside two miles from here.

Both had been in jail on charges of murder.

Six bullets had struck Winchester, whose body was found by Archie Lewallen as he was walking along the road. Several hours later, officers tramping through the woods, found Boyett's body in a clump of bushes 40 yards from where Winchester's body had been discovered.

Deputy Sheriff J. C. Phillips said Boyett had been shot seven times.

About 25 men, armed with pistols and wearing sacks over their heads, came to the jail about midnight, Sheriff Esau Laxton related, called the jailer to the door, struck him on the head with a pistol and took his keys.

They went to the third floor of the jail, dragged the prisoners outside, cut the telephone line to the jail and drove away in four cars.

The sheriff was not at the jail at the time, he said.

Boyett was charged with the slaying of Sheriff G. B. Winningham and his son, Floyd Winningham, of Pickett County, several weeks ago. Winchester had been in jail about five months on charges of slaying Namon Perry and Esker Thompson near Winfield.

Engineers' Chief Under Indictment

Cleveland, June 9 (A.P.).—Alvanley Johnston, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was indicted with two other men today for misapplication of funds and false entries in the books of the Standard Trust Bank, of Cleveland, which collapsed nearly two years ago.

The Standard Trust Bank reported $13,200,000 in deposits when it closed December 19, 1931, about two years after it had succeeded the Brotherhood of Engineers' Cooperative National Bank and two smaller institutions.

The indictments came in the midst of a fierce struggle between the aggressive Johnston and a self-styled group of progressives, who have set out to unseat the grand chief during the current brotherhood convention in Cleveland.

Mexican Fugitive Captured in Texas

Corpus Christi, Tex., June 9 (A.P.). Immigration officials here tonight were holding Antonio Gonzales for deportation to Mexico, and also to turn him over to Mexican authorities if they wish to prosecute him for the slaying of two men in Tampico, Mexico, in the fall of 1928.

Antonio Gonzales and his brother, Rosendo Gonzales, were arrested at Portland, Tex., today as suspected violators of the immigration laws.

Immigration officers said both admitted that Antonio Gonzales shot and killed Francisco and Manuel Valdez, brothers, in a political brawl in his saloon on the outskirts of Tampico.

OHIO WOMEN TO GET MINIMUM PAY LAW

Legislature Passes Bill Upon Request Received From White House.

Columbus, Ohio, June 9 (A.P.).—Legislative action on a bill to provide a minimum wage for women and children in Ohio industry was completed tonight when the State Senate passed the measure by a vote of 31 to 0 and sent it to Gov. White.

The Federal Government, through President Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, today urged passage by the Legislature of the wage bill and another measure to provide unemployment insurance. The latter has passed the House of Representatives, but has not been adopted in the Senate.

In a telegram to Gov. White, the President said the unemployment insurance bill pending in the Legislature "is in accordance with our platform." His dispatch came a few hours after the governor received a message from Secretary Perkins favoring approval of the minimum wage law.

Carrying an emergency clause, the minimum wage bill will become effective immediately upon signature by the governor, who announced he would approve it.

The bill calls for creation of a special board of the State Industrial Commission to fix minimum wages in various communities. The measure itself stipulates no specific wage, leaving that to be based on local conditions.

Wheat Production Short First Time This Century

(Associated Press.)

Government crop reports, charting the severe damage produced by bad weather conditions to wheat, yesterday indicated that American production of the grain will fall short of domestic needs for the first time this century.

On the basis of its reports, total production of 603,000,000 bushels is estimated, while the Nation used from 620,000,000 bushels upward each year without considering exports on shipments to territories and insular possessions, long an important factor.

The board also forecast today a below normal production of rye and peaches and a slightly increased crop of pears.

postage throughout the country, provided the volume of mail justifies the reduction without curtailing revenues.

The measure was in dispute between the House and Senate for several weeks. The House first transferred the 3 per cent tax from the consumer to the producer and the Senate finally yielded. Subsequently, however, the Senate insisted upon the Johnson amendment being adopted.

The transfer of the electric tax is to take place on September 1.

Representatives from the Pacific Coast States, aided by Southern Democrats, combined to secure the adoption of the Johnson proposal in the House. It was offered by Representative Hill (Democrat), Washington.

Mean Man

Victimizes Newsboy, 12, of $6.85 Collected on His Route.

Here's another entry as the meanest man.

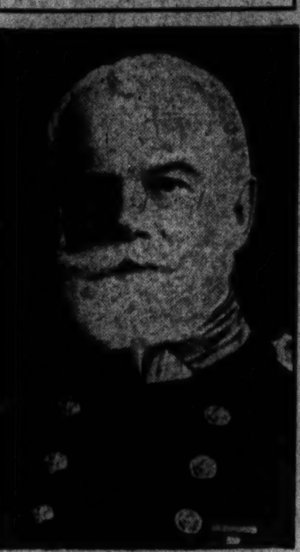
Twelve-year-old Carlton Black, 1008 Massachusetts avenue northwest, was rather flush on money yesterday afternoon, having just collected $6.85 from his paper route, but not flush enough to quit work or anything like that.

He was still on his corner at Eleventh and G streets northwest selling papers. A kindly man stepped up and bought a paper. He chatted with the boy, and finally offered him 50 cents to go to Twelfth and I streets northwest and get his watch and coat.

But to make it a real business deal the man suggested that the boy leave something as security. The boy left his pocketbook with the $6.85.

Yes, it was a flim-flam. No watch and coat at Twelfth and I streets, and no man when the boy returned.

SUCCUMBS



CAPT. SAMUEL REED COLHOUN.

CAPT. S. R. COLHOUN, U.S.N., RETIRED, DIES

Rites Monday for Veteran of Sailing Days and Spanish War.

Capt. Samuel Reed Colhoun, 87, U. S. N., retired, who during his 40 years service saw sailing ships replaced by the great steel fortresses of today, died Thursday at his home, 109 West Underwood street, Chevy Chase, Md.

Capt. Colhoun, who had been retired since 1903, was serving on the U. S. S. Oregon when she made her historic dash around South America at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War. He also figured in many other historic naval events.

He began his life on the seas when he was given a commission as assistant paymaster in the Navy four years after the Civil War, when wooden ships were still numerous in the service. He was 23 years old. One of the best known of the wooden ships on which Capt. Colhoun served was the Ossippe, which took part in the battle of Mobile Bay. Others he liked to recall were the Marion, the Saugus, the Canonius and Monongahela.

Capt. Colhoun served aboard the Oregon in its engagements in Cuban waters, and later was transferred to the Iowa, where his sea service was terminated.

He is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Martha Digges Calhoun, and two children by a former marriage, Mrs. Vernon F. Pavey, of Seattle, Wash., and Edmund Reed Colhoun, of Brooklyn, N. Y. His first wife, the former Phoebe Halsey Clark, of Philadelphia, died several years ago and he was married to the widow of his brother, J. Ross Colhoun.

Funeral services will be held Monday at the V. L. Speare funeral home, followed by interment in Arlington National Cemetery.

HOUSE ACCEPTS PLAN FOR VETERANS CUTS

view to determining whether they are entitled to compensation.

Pensions for service-connected or presumptive-case veterans' widows and children to continue at rates in effect before the economy act was passed.

Veterans suffering from diseases contracted as a result of misconduct are to be eliminated from the rolls unless it is proved the disease was aggravated as a result of service.

By issuing regulations the President is to make provision for Spanish-American War veterans of 55 or more, while the pensions for Spanish-American War veterans of 62 or more are to continue under present regulations, recently revised to provide increases.

The House will meet today at 10 a. m. to consider a rule under which the compromise will be substituted for the Senate amendment.

Democratic leaders and members of the veterans' special committee unanimously approved the compromise at a meeting of the steering committee and expressed confidence that the House also would adopt the proposal.

Only one hour of debate is to be allowed on the rule of procedure. Adoption of this will assure approval of the motion to be made by Chairman Buchanan of the Appropriations Committee to substitute the compromise for the Senate amendment.

This compromise ends a revolt in Congress that threatened to disrupt President Roosevelt's economy and budget-balancing program.

The Connally amendment, inserted by the Senate, limited reductions in service-connected and presumptive cases to 25 per cent and was estimated to cost $170,000,000.

President Roosevelt last Sunday night delivered an ultimatum to Democratic House leaders that if the amendment was adopted new taxes would have to be raised.

Representative Goldsborough (Democrat), Maryland, chairman of the special veterans committee, said yesterday President Roosevelt had informed his group that the compromise, variously estimated to cost between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000, would not necessitate the levying of new taxes.

The compromise proposal, accompanied by a letter from the President to Representative Crosser (Democrat), Ohio, chairman of the steering committee, was taken up yesterday. The veterans committee then extended from September 1 to October 31 the period in which veterans may continue on the presumptive rolls and this change was approved by the steering committee.

President Roosevelt was not asked to pass upon this alteration, but Representative Lea (Democrat), California, chairman of the Democratic caucus, predicted it would be acceptable to the President.

House leaders expect to send the independent offices bill to conference by this afternoon with a view to an early agreement with the Senate. Indications are that the Senate also will accept the substitute.

MORGAN QUIZ ENDS; LISTS ARE DEFENDED

Banker Assails Criticism of Firm's Clients in Statement.

brought some of them into high offices and mischance has impaired the fortunes of others."

"It has never, during the firm's existence, been thought discreditable to a customer of J. P. Morgan & Co., whether a depositor, borrower or subscriber. We protested vigorously against the breach of what we have always assumed to be the confidential relationship of the banker and his customer. The result of this action has been an unwarranted criticism upon our customers. This unjust criticism we feel deeply."

At the close of Morgan's statement, the Senate investigators closed the current inquiry into operations of the Morgan company, after hearings lasting three weeks.

Details of a stock distributing transaction at two bargain-price levels, with J. P. Morgan & Co.'s official family paying $10 less a share than prominent outsiders, yesterday were made public while Senate investigators questioned partners of the firm about stock transactions that reduced their taxable income.

William H. Woodin, Owen D. Young and John J. Raskob again appeared as Morgan selected clients as George Whitney, a partner, told how 399,950 shares of Johns-Manville stock was sold June 9, 1927, at $47.50 and $57.50 when the market price was around $78.

The list was placed in the record by Ferdinand Pecora, the committee investigator, in a humid hearing room while he was questioning three other partners—Thomas S. Lamont, William Ewing and Harold Stanley—about stock transactions with their wives.

Direct and Indirect Sales.

Lamont testified that sales by which his taxable income was reduced $114,000 were made directly and indirectly to his wife. A little more than three months later he bought all the stock back at the original price.

Stanley detailed a loss of almost $12,858 on stock sold to Mrs. Stanley in 1929, which was deductible on his income tax return. But he said the stock never was repurchased.

Ewing's testimony related to a short sale made as trustee for his children. He said short selling by a partner as such was against Morgan & Co. policies.

Whitney's explanation about the Johns-Manville stock distribution, made in a sparsely-filled, oppresively hot hearing room in which J. P. Morgan sat as uncomfortable as everybody else, described how 343,750 shares were sold to Morgan partners and their families at $47.50 a share. Then 56,200 shares were sold to a "select list" of outsiders at $57.50.

He said these purchasers were told Morgan & Co. was taking a 10 per cent profit. Some of the higher-priced buyers included Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, then Anne Morrow, whose father, the late Senator Dwight Morrow, once was a partner in the Morgan firm. Others included Charles D. Hilles, Charles E. Mitchell and Alfred P. Sloan.

Stanley was one of the last witnesses. Pecora asked him about a sale to his wife in November, 1929, of 660 shares of Puerto Rican American Tobacco B.

Family Transaction.

Stanley said he made the sale for $10,532 and that it represented a loss of $12,858, which was claimed and allowed as an income tax deduction.

"Did you repurchase this stock from your wife?" Pecora asked.

"No," Stanley said.

Pecora estimated that Thomas S. Lamont's additional income tax for 1930 would have been $20,000 if his stock losses had not been employed, but Lamont didn't think "it could possibly have been so much."

Briefly, Ewing and his wife were described as having received $654,000 as security for 4,350 shares of Johns-Manville stock they had loaned to the trust account of their children. The stock was borrowed by the trust account to meet a short sale of the same number of shares.

This $654,000 collateral was depicted as $447,000 more than the cost of the stock to Mr. and Mrs. Ewing.

"If these sales are not covered, you and your wife will still be in possession of the money for which the stocks were sold short in 1928, won't you?" Pecora demanded.

"We have the money now," Ewing said.

"You have never paid any income tax on the sale of the stocks that have never been covered?"

Ewing said the Internal Revenue Bureau had attempted to assess an additional $60,687 against him and $52,528 against his wife on the transaction, but that the Board of Tax Appeals had overruled the bureau, upholding the short sales were a bona-fide transaction.

"Has the Morgan firm a policy on short sales?" Pecora asked.

"Yes," Ewing said. "The partners are not supposed to sell stock short."

Lamont's Statement.

Did you depart from that policy when the trust sold 4,350 shares of Johns-Manville Co. short?"

"No. It was done for the trust. I acted as trustee."

The 34-year-old Lamont was the first witness, and Morgan took a seat next to Chairman Fletcher to hear him testify. But, first, the Morgan counsel, John W. Davis, took full responsibility for objecting to the same income tax questions last week and said his clients were anxious, as from the beginning, to supply all needful facts.

Lamont read a statement, in which he said his 1930 income tax had been examined by Internal Revenue Bureau officials, and that he had "received from them no inquiry, criticism or complaint, nor has there been at any time any redetermination of my tax or any request for a further payment."

He added:

"Some one has said that the time allotted the bureau under the statute to make a redetermination has expired. That doesn't mean anything to me because I don't intend to try and hide my income tax return now or at any time behind a statute limitation.

"If the bureau wants to make a reinvestigation of these transactions, naturally, I am entirely willing that they should do so, and am quite ready to waive any benefit from the lapse of time which the statutes may give."

MRS. CLARK DENIES EXTRAVAGANT LIVING

Crippled Wife of Accused Former Official Defense Witness at Trial.

Highlights of the trial of Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County Commissioners, for alleged embezzlement of county money at Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville yesterday, was the appearance of his crippled wife, as a defense witness.

Assisted into the courtroom by S. F. Hamilton, her brother, and walking with the aid of a crutch, Mrs. Clark hobbled to a chair placed beside the witness stand so she would not have to climb into the witness box. She answered questions in a voice hardly audible beyond the jury box.

Mrs. Clark denied that she and her husband had lived extravagently in the 29 years of their married life and pointed out that the car they owned was bought in 1925 or 1927. She declared they lived quietly and with no display.

The defense completed its testimony yesterday afternoon and the State went into rebuttal, which it expects to complete this morning.

Chief Judge Hammond Urner adjourned court until 9:30 a. m. today with the understanding that it would adjourn at 12:30 p. m. until Monday morning. Arguments of counsel will be heard Monday and it is expected the case will be in the hands of the jury by Monday night.

Defense brought out in questioning J. Forrest Walker, county treasurer, that he also had maintained a No. 2 bank account for his office which he did not consider an official account. He testified in answer to questioning that Clark had gotten in touch with the auditors at the time of his dismissal and had paid a check of $3,200 to Walker which they had said was due. The check had been retained by the office of the clerk to the county commissioners and was not available, but State's Attorney Prescott stipulated that the check had been paid to avoid delay.

Defense also brought out in questioning Lewis F. Bond, head of the auditing crew which went over the county books, that the books of the county home had not been audited although $3,000 of county money is expended there annually. Nearly 20 character witnesses were placed on the stand by the defense.

Wave of Dry Sentiment In Next 2 Years Seen

Predicting that a wave of dry sentiment would sweep the country in the next two years, Dr. Earl Taylor of the National Prohibition Emergency Committee last night told a gathering at Hyattsville that the eighteenth amendment would never be repealed.

The meeting, held under auspices of the Prince Georges County unit of the Emergency Committee, was attended by a large crowd. Following Dr. Taylor, Rossell Mitchell, organizer for the county, outlined the plan of work for the organization. William A. DuVall, former county commissioner, presided.

Welsh, 2308 Second street northeast, forfeited $26.45 collateral for the same offense. George A. Bowles, 519 Sixth street northeast, plead guilty to having no lights on his car. He was fined $5 and costs.

EARLE

"GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933," Warner Brothers picturization of a story by Erwin Gelsey and James Seymour, based on the comedy by Avery Hopwood, featuring Ruby Keeler, Aline MacMahon, Ginger Rogers, Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Warren William, Guy Kibbee and Ned Sparks. Music and lyrics by Harry Warren and Al Dubin. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Packed with colorful incident, alive with comedy and gay with the tuneful glamour of backstage life, this latest contribution to the recrudescence of the musical screen is, if anything, more engaging entertainment than has been so persistently promised in the seemingly fulsome advance notices.

It is coherently comic, brilliantly spectacular and picturesquely modern in its utilization of the most advanced tricks of motion picture photography and lighting—a fast-moving, glittering, well-cast musical extravaganza, in many respects the superior of the sensationally successful "42d Street," its immediate predecessor.

The relationship between the new "Gold Diggers of 1933" and "Gold Diggers of Broadway," the first camera version of the Avery Hopwood farce, is not too closely drawn. Lacking something of the earlier edition's directness and singleness of purpose, the new "Gold Diggers" presents a musical comedy opening that is a sort of composite "Broadway Melody" and "42d Street," merging adroitly into the major movement of the Hopwood comedy and ending in an outburst of musical pageantry that is no less than inspiring.

Along the way of these successive movements are tuneful songs, youthful romance and a display of feminine pulchritude that is as dazzling as anything that the screen has done in the way of girl-and-music shows.

As was the case in "42nd Street," it is the opinion of this observer that Ruby Keeler is the most completely captivating personality in the cast, although not the most importantly assigned as regards sustained characterization. Aline MacMahon, in the role formerly played by Winnie Lightner, is the hilarious mainstay of the picture's straight comedy sequences, with Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee and Warren William grouped closely about in roles of scarcely secondary importance. Miss Keeler tops the entire crowd in ability as a dancer, just as Dick Powell walks off with the principal vocal honors, as the young composer of aristocratic lineage who saves Barney Hopkins' "Forgotten Melody" when it stands in most dire need of saving. Ned Sparks is the Barney and Guy Kibbee and Warren William the millionaire crusaders who become inextricably involved in matrimony in attempting to prevent Mr. Powell's doing so. Ginger Rogers is a sprightly embellishment who sings and wisecracks her way through the action.

Among the songs, "We're in the Money," "Petting in the Park" and "I've Got to Sing a Torch Song" already are "over" as popular hits. "In the Shadows," a spectacular waltz number, with Neon-lighted violins creating a unique effect, is a stupendous conception, and the finale of the film, "Forgotten Man," sung by Joan Blondell, develops all of the emotional fervor of a Nation's mighty spiritual.

William Demarest, assisted by Miss Hope Vernon, a soprano with a voice susceptible of the most astonishing variations, coheadlines the stage bill with Aileen Stanley, the popular balladist and radio artiste. Mr. Demarest combines his own distinctive brand of humor with some competent musicianship to score his customary hit. Miss Stanley scores no less decisively, although with perhaps less physicial effort, in a group of songs admirably suited to her style and voice.

Maxine Doyle, stunningly attired in white, introduces Jay Seiler and Frances Wills, extraordinary acrobatic dancers, to open the vaudeville portion of the bill.

Freddie Clark's orchestral interludes and a short newsreel are the only auxiliaries of a program that deserves all of the superlatives that will be showered upon it.

road from Bladensburg to Marlboro to buckle.

As the heat became more intense with the advancing day a wide gap suddenly appeared in the new concrete, near Largo, Md. The gap became so wide that it was necessary to station a country road patrolman to guard the spot and assist motorists across.

Hospitals received so many calls that in some cases persons were treated and released without learning their names or addresses.

The deaths induced by the heat Thursday were of John W. Durnin, 72, of 3 West Thornapple street, Chevy Chase, Md., who died of a cerebral hemorrhage; Hans C. Knutson, 50, of San Francisco, who collapsed and died while walking at Second street and Virginia avenue southwest, and Erich Kruse, 28, of Mecklenberg, Germany, a sailor who leaped into the Potomac and drowned in a frenzied attempt to escape the heat.

Two Pools Open Today.

Mr. Durnin, a retired feed and building supply man, collapsed and died while in the yard of Carl D. Ritter, with whom he had lived for years. He will be buried today in Mount Olivet Cemetery following a requiem mass at 9:30 a. m. at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Smithers, Miss Katherine Durnin, and a brother, Joseph P. Durnin, all of Chevy Chase.

Washington's two public swimming pools will open their season today, and just in time, too, in view of the heat wave.

The pools are those at McKinley High School, First street and Lincoln road northeast, and the Francis Pool at Twenty-fifth and N streets northwest. The McKinley Pool will be open from 10 a. m. to noon, 1 p. m. to 6 p. m., and 7 p. m. to 10:30 p. m., on week days. The Sunday and holiday schedule will be 1 p. m. to 6 p. m., and 7 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Night Schedule Extended.

At the Francis Pool, the schedule on opening will be from noon to 8 p. m., daily and Sunday, but on June 24 it will be changed to permit swimming from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

These swimming pools will be operated in addition to the wading pools for smaller children at various playgrounds.

A change in the hours of night tennis on the lighted courts at Seventeenth street and Constitution avenue northwest will be made on June 12, it was announced yesterday by the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks. The courts will be open from 8 to 11 p. m., instead of the present hours of 7:30 to 10:30 p. m.

U. S. Death Toll Passes 100.

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Shifting winds started to cool the sweltering East late today as the Nation's death toll in the year's first excessive heat wave mounted above 100.

While the highest temperatures of recent years were being recorded along the Atlantic Coast early in the afternoon, the Middlewest already had found relief.

A few hours later ocean breezes carried the mercury down a few degrees in coastal cities, but Weather Bureau officials warned that another change in the wind would bring even hotter weather.

Four deaths by drowning at Buffalo, N. Y., the death of a man at Bridgeport, Conn., and one at Philadelphia and other scattered fatalities were added to those suffered in the Midland States earlier in the week.

A dozen prostrations were reported by police in New York, where the temperature at 1 p. m. (Eastern standard time) was 96 degrees, the highest since July 21, 1930. Within the next hour it dropped 6 degrees, but at 3 p. m. it was up to 91.

Judges Doff Robes.

Schools in Philadelphia, Wilmington, Del., and surrounding cities were closed; policemen were permitted to remove their blue coats, and some judges doffed their heavy, black robes.

In New England there was a marked fall in the temperature. In Boston it dropped 24 degrees in less than that many hours—from 93, yesterday afternoon, to 69.

Philadelphia's temperature was 97 at 1 p. m., 20 degrees above the maximum in Chicago, where a cool breeze was welcomed by the throngs attending A Century of Progress Exposition.

The forecast for the Middle West tomorrow indicated warmer weather and a fair or partly cloudy day. The New York Weather Bureau said that if the wind should change to the west, abnormally high temperatures again would prevail.

The maximum of 96 degrees here was only 1 below the record for the month, set on June 6, 1899.

$160 Gold Stolen in Alexandria.

Miss Margaret Downey, 721 Gibbon street, Alexandria, reported to the police yesterday that her home was entered Thursday night and $160 in gold, a $10 bill, a $5 bill and three $1 bills stolen from her trunk, together with a platinum watch valued at $200.

LOEW'S FOX

"THE NUISANCE," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a story by Chandler Sprague and Howard Emmett Rogers, adapted by the Spewacks, starring Lee Tracy, with Madge Evans, Frank Morgan, Charles Butterworth and John Miljan. Directed by Jack Conway. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

Out of an incessant garrulity, a continuous outburst of impassioned, platitudinous and spread-eagle speeches, delivered to accident victims, judges, juries, patient friends and irritated enemies, Bella and Samuel Spewack have whittled another high-pressure role for Lee Tracy, which he plays with all of the familiar tricks of inflection and gesture that have characterized so many of his recent performances before the cameras and microphones.

In "The Nuisance," a comedy-drama of the ambulance-chasing, shyster lawyer racket, which was first known by the rather more expository title of "Never Give a Sucker a Break," Mr. Tracy is a dynamic young man who manufactures damage suits against rich corporations, resorts to all the shady devices known to the legal profession to win them and eventually declares war upon the chief attorney of the traction company who frames him almost into disbarment.

It is only through the romance that springs up between J. Phineas Stevens and the beautiful young operative the opposition hires to get evidence against him that the "nuisance" evades the penalties of his transgressions. There is cleverness, considerable melodramatic interest and no little suspense in this pivotal movement of the plot. The whole piece, however, is keyed in a pitch and played at a tempo that only misses becoming frankly and unequivocally farcical by a hair.

In his glib and gatling-gun manner, Lee Tracy is as amusing as he has ever been in the role of the renegade J. Phineas Stevens. Much of the effectiveness of his part is due to the skilful playing of Madge Evans in the opposite role of the girl who marries him as a means of undoing all that she has accomplished against him for the opposition. Charles Butterworth contributes immeasurably to the comic aspects of the extravagent story as a perfect foil for the arch advocate of fakery.

One of the finest character bits of the season is the Dr. Prescott, Stevens' bibbling medical accomplice in contriving bogus evidence, of Frank Morgan, who imbues an unconscionable malpractitioner with every sympathetic, pitiful and tragic virtue known to the decalogue. He makes a tremendously moving figure of a consummate rogue. John Miljan is the opposing attorney, whose honest aims habitually come to naught.

The stage bill this week is one of those intimate, ad lib affairs with only such form and substance as it acquires from the spontaneous impulse of the moment. This is due principally to the prevalence of Benny Rubin throughout.

Mr. Rubin is second on the bill as a monologist and comedy musician—at which he scores an honest hit—but returns during the unusually diverting offering of Buster Shaver and his two Lilliputians, Olive and George, tiny people of remarkable talents, and again during the roller skating turn of John and Mary Mason, which evolves into an audience free-for-all that lasted too long, it seemed to me, yesterday afternoon.

The three Samuel Brothers, assisted by Harriet Hayes and Kay Warner, open the bill with a corking dance act that is strong enough to close the program instead of open it.

Phil Lampkin's "Merry Wives of Windsor" overture and the Fox Movietone News complete an entertainment that yesterday's sweltering crowds found distinctly refreshing.

METROPOLITAN

"I COVER THE WATERFRONT." United Artists release, based on Max Miller's book, featuring Ben Lyon, Claudette Colbert, Ernest Torrence and Purnell Pratt. Directed by James Cruze. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Strange and wondrous are the feats of the cinema. Some of those became noticeable when "20,000 Years in Sing Sing" was filmed, and now comes Max Miller's "I Cover the Waterfront" to prove that almost any sort of book with the right title can be filmed.

As originally written, the book is a collection of disconnected experiences of a reporter, but as "I Cover the Waterfront" is purveyed on the screen, it is resolved into one of the most thrilling and realistic newspaper stories to come to light. There is, in the first place, the life of a journalist; there is an exciting yarn of the smuggling of Chinese; there is a diverting, though not unusual love story and, finally, there is expounded a sound philosophy of life.

The whole cinematic story revolves around the capture of a smuggler of Chinese. To get the evidence required, Reporter Miller makes love to Julie, daughter of Eli Kirk, who is thought to be the culprit. The ruse is successful when it is discovered that the huge carcasses of sharks is the modus operandi. The while, Miller has fallen genuinely in love with Julie, but the death of Kirk leads to the expected difficulties. In an attempted capture, Kirk had been shot, but before he dies, he does the anticipated "bless you, my children" act—and they live happily ever after.

As the newspaperman who becomes satiated with the monotony of his routine life, made the more despicable by the very locale of his job, is Ben Lyon. Journalists have, as a class, been somewhat manhandled in their translation to the screen, but here in the person of Mr. Lyon the cinema has made up for a lot of their past sins.

Claudette Colbert is great as the daughter of the smuggler, but hardly the daughter of a vurrry burrrry Scotchman. But that's immaterial, for she does make a swell opposite for Mr. Lyon. Practicing the nefarious business is the late Ernest Torrence, a grand character part by a consummate character actor.

There can be no gainsaying the fact that here is one of the best newspaper stories yet made.

The added attractions include "Sky Symphony," a radio-star revuelet, with Col. Stoopnagel and Budd, Lanny Ross, the Loomis Sisters and the Rio Brothers; a Looney Toon, "Bosco, the Sheep Herder," and the Paramount News.

Yesterday in appreciation of this devotion to duty, the Senate passed a resolution granting one year's salary to Shuey's widow.

RKO-KEITH'S

"PROFESSIONAL SWEETHEART," An RKO-Radio picturization of an original story by Maurine Watkins, featuring Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster, Frank McHugh and ZaSu Pitts. Directed by William Seiter. Reviewed Friday night by W. A. Whitney.

Radio stars have had their innings in various and sundry ways upon the silver sheet, and now we have them and their sponsors appearing in a conglomerated satire, wherein the manufacturers of the Ippsy-Wippsy Wash Cloths and the Kelsey Dish Rags vie in no uncertain terms for the services of Glory Eden, the purity girl—in short, the "professional sweetheart."

It all doesn't make any sense, nor does it appear that Author Watkins intended it should. With Ginger Rogers living up to her first name, and abetted by ZaSu Pitts, as a sob-sister; Frank McHugh, as the high-pressure press agent; Gregory Ratoff and Edgar Kennedy, as the opposing sponsors and Norman Foster, as the "pure Anglo-Saxon" from the Kentucky mountains, there is no real reason for any particular amount of reason.

Mr. McHugh, sober for a change, quite steals the picture from the other members of the cast, with his delineation of a highly resourceful purveyor of professional ballyhoo. Miss Rogers, who apparently has foisted upon her a poorly synchronized singing double, makes a highly acceptable orphan girl, skyrocketed to fame and artistic temperament.

Among the others adding to the hilarity of the occasion are Lucien Littlefield, as the announcer; Franklin Pangborn, as the dress designer; and Theresa Harris, whose hot torch songs result in the welding of the opponents and the ultimate joint sponsoring of the Ippsy-Kelsey Clothies.

Gene Dennis, who "knows all and tells all," has returned, and is continuing to amaze her questioners with the definiteness and completeness of her answers to interrogations on love, business and what not.

The supplementary screen fare includes a release of the picturized Washington Post feature, "Strange As It Seems," by John Hix; a Scrappy cartoon, "The Match King," and the Pathe News.

PALACE

"WHEN LADIES MEET." M-G-M picturization of Rachel Crothers' play, starring Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery, with Myrna Loy, Frank Morgan, Alice Brady and Morton Burton. Directed by Harry Beaumont. Reviewed Friday evening by Dorothea Lewis.

With the stage presentation of this neat, nice and amusing play so recent and vivid in mind, it is rather hard to do other than compare, but, judging "When Ladies Meet" as much as possible as standing on its cinema feet alone, it is very good, indeed. And Ann Harding is grand, quite completely her old self again.

The plot is nothing more nor less than that which Authoress Mary (Myrna Loy) is using in her novel and in her life, the love of an intelligent, decent, sincere woman for a married man and her desire to talk it out with the wife, intelligently, decently and sincerely, because she thinks of the wife as a "wife"—not another person just as much in love with the man. And so when ladies meet in life, it is a little different from their meeting on page 185 in chapter 28.

The whole thing, problem and production, is interesting, adult, amusing and somehow touchingly true and more important than it sounds, because you'll probably remember it for at least a little while if the hot spell doesn't last too long.

As we hurried to report back there at the beginning, Ann Harding, as the wife, is her old superb self again and if Selena Royle hadn't been so splendid on the stage in the role, we'd be going overboard and reporting Ann as "The only one who could play it." As it is, we say "all even."

In the smooth performance of Frank Morgan, as the gentleman under discussion at the ladies' meeting, the screen has an advantage over the performance of Herbert Rawlinson. But, and a big but and a but we're sorry to have to say, it loses no less perceptibly in the frenetic and farcical work of the usually reliable Alice Brady, who makes a combination Gracie Allen-ZaSu Pitts-minus-the-fun out of the delicious Bridget whom Spring Byington played so beautifully for us on the National Theater stage. Spring's Bridget was a character, Alice's an annoying and nervous surface creation, which, however and fortunately, can't quite spoil the rare and ridiculous lines written for her by Rachel Crothers.

We would rate Myrna Loy's Mary as somewhat better and considerably more sincere than Frieda Inescort's work, while the play-acting of Robert Montgomery, as Jimmy, likeable as some of it is, misses the spark of inspiration that made Walter Abel a lovable, unique but very real rogue.

A short revue in color, "Hollywood Premiere," is unusually good with some excellent imitations by Eddie Garr. "King Zilch," a somewhat less than inspired cartoon, and the newsreel complete the bill.

HOUSE PASSES BILL AIDING HOME OWNER

Mortgage Measure Meets No Opposition From Representatives.

(Associated Press.)

Approval of the Senate and the signature of the President were all that remained necessary last night to convert into law the administration bill designed to apply a $2,000,000,000 alleviation to the debt burden of home owners.

Without a single member dissenting, the House yesterday approved the final form of the home mortgage bill. As soon as the Senate does likewise, the bill will go to the White House, to be signed as a part of President Roosevelt's recovery program.

Promising aid to all owners of homes worth $20,000 or less and housing four families or less, the bill establishes a quasi-Federal agency to be known as the Home Owners Loan Corporation. This corporation may have a capital of $200,000,000, subscribed in full by the Treasury.

Then the corporation may issue up to $2,000,000,000 in 4 per cent bonds guaranteed by the Government as to interest but not as to principal.

When an individual home owner discovers he no longer can carry his home under his existing mortgage, he may ask aid of the corporation, during three years after the bill becomes law. The corporation will ask the mortgage holder to reduce the size of the mortgage and then trade him 4 per cent bonds for the mortgage.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

ERNEST E. HALL, who acted as personal assistant to former Secretary Hyde, and who has rendered emergency service to the succeeding Cabinet official, has left the Secretary's office. Plans have been made for his location in the Bureau of Public Roads, Agriculture.

Such an assignment should be pleasing to Mr. Hall, because of his broad experience with highways and automobiles, both in the Government employ, and outside with private concerns. It was not an uncommon thing, when holding position in the Secretary's office, to pilot Mr. Hyde about the States—sometimes on official business.

Mr. Hall distinguished himself during his short-time, front-office term—so much so that it is now a matter of general department comment. His high-minded administrative acts cause him to carry into his new field of effort the good will of all of his former official associates.

He was brought to Washington from Missouri at the instance of Mr. Hyde, when he assumed Cabinet office, and through the prestige of the latter he was, on August 18, 1932, excepted by an Executive Order from the requirement of Civil Service examination.

Prior to 1929, on which date Hall began employment under the Federal Government, he had been associated with Mr. Hyde in business at Trenton, Mo., in an automobile agency. Preceding that it is reliably stated, the former assistant to the Secretary was engaged in public accounting in Kansas City, Mo.

Here is the text of the Sirovich resolution, less all the whereases, to create the position of liaison officer, and referred to the Committee on Civil Service:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America assembled, that there is hereby created the position of liaison officer, separate and independent of the executive departments, who shall be empowered to hear, investigate and adjust difficulties and troubles of employes between themselves and the departments or officials, or if necessary bring the matter to the attention of individual members of this body or the entire membership should the matter call for such action; that all departments and establishments of the Government shall furnish to said officer such information regarding the personnel of their respective offices as may from time to time be required, and for the purpose of securing such information the said officer shall have access to and the right to examine any books, papers, documents, or records of any department or establishment; and be it further

* * * *

Resolved, That the President, by and with the consent of the Senate, shall select and appoint the said officer from among Government employes now in the service who have had at least 12 years' service in the Government; that the term of office, shall be for four years; that said officer shall receive $6,000 per annum.

With all these rumors floating 'round and prospects so chaotic, we fear the Federal clerks are bound to all become neurotic.—Felix Fed.

* * * *

WITH us all sweltering here in Washington, D. C., it is interesting to note that word has been received from a triangulation party of the Coast and Geodetic Survey running an arc from Walla Walla, in the State of Washington, to Helena, Mont., that F. G. Johnson, chief of party, had to stop work because of weather conditions.

Much back packing had to be done through snow sometimes as much as 4 feet deep, while report from ahead of the party was to the effect that snow in the mountains was as much as 9 feet deep.

Dr. Samuel F. Hildebrand, Fisheries, will return to Washington from Mississippi soon after July 1.

YESTERDAY'S heat took its toll in prostrations among Government employes. Five men were overcome at Arlington Experimental Farm . . . Now that we need that Monument pool with its waters to soothe, it's just too bad . . . Ezra F. Bloomingburg, voucher section, G. A. O., yesterday prepared to go to Kentucky, where his mother is seriously ill . . . . That job of counting out the old U. S. treasurer and counting in the new, well we wouldn't swap jobs just to be around so much money in those hot vaults. Among those from other departments assisting in counting and accounting are E. K. Ellsworth, chief, field division, and fiscal adviser, Census Bureau, and Gerald P. Ryan, same bureau. Mr. Ryan suffered a leg injury trying to move around in all that money . . . Swarmi Fedd says it would have been just his luck to have contracted the gout around so much money . . . This should make consumers happy: "Every producer of raw materials has been forced by economic conditions to improve the service of his product to the consumer," says Maj. W. DuB. Brookings, who is quoted by Axel H. Oxholm, director, N. C. W. U. . . . We learned who the young woman is who had that horrible dream narrated in yesterday's Diary. And would you believe it, it is Mrs. ——— ———? . . . Tommy Tilson, Secretary's Office, Commerce, finishes first law year. Maybe he'll be ready to fill the Attorney Generalship soon, since it was said the incumbent was to hold office only temporarily . . . And we see by the papers that Prof. Moley will write under the general heading of "Why Right?" . . . Imagine finding a $1,277 check and that on an open bank. Albert Gamse, regional information, Commerce, has returned it to a real estate man who lost it and who planned to pay taxes on one of his apartment buildings . . . And in keeping with the trend of the times, Agriculture is rotating its crops too, now. Two shifts of workers are being run on the new farm unit under the new deal . . . Martha Vincent, regional information, Commerce, is back from furlough.

* * * *

Miss Amelia Doherty (*), Rules and Regulations Division, Internal Revenue Bureau, has returned from a pleasant trip to Trenton, N. J. She was accompanied by her sister and they visited relatives in the capital city of New Jersey.

* * * *

E. R. Conner, Administrative Division, Internal Revenue Bureau, has got out his rods and reels for the herring and shad season in Potomac River. Mr. Conner also enjoys big cod fishing in the State of Maine and makes annual trips to that section. His largest catch in Maine was a 65-pound codfish. His associates say he has told so many big fish stories that if the fish he had caught were thrown back into the ocean, there would be no room for the water.

* * * *

The Federal News, weekly newspaper published by the National Federation of Federal Employes, today will say editorially:

"The Navy Department order of June 1, closing all yards and stations on Saturdays, is unjust and should be amended.

"The net effect of the order imposing this administrative furlough is to bring about a one-sixth deduction in pay, with working time lessened only one-eleventh. It means the practical nullification of Saturday half-holiday legislation.

"The Navy Department order is indefensibly harsh, and its unfairness is emphasized by the fact that the department could gain the end it seeks without recourse to such a measure.

"There is no valid administrative reason why civilian employes of the yards and stations, already subjected to cuts and furloughs, how should be forced to bear a new and sharp curtailment. And certainly every consideration of justice stands in opposition to that order."

Howard University Gives Diplomas to Class of 320

President of Julius Rosenwald Fund Delivers Address at Commencement, Urging Pride in Diverse Heritage of Race.

Urging pride in their diverse heritage, "the culture of the East and of the West," Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, told the 320 graduates of the Howard University at commencement exercises yesterday to take advantage of the mechanical and intellectual tools of the West in combination with the inherent introspective qualities of the East.

"As important as these mechanical and intellectual tools are," Mr. Embree stated, "they are not the ends of life, but simply a means toward fuller living, and while they represent a distinct contribution to society, other peoples have developed other phases of life much further and more full than we."

The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Oswald Garrison Villard by Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of the university. In the citation Dr. Johnson paid tribute to Mr. Villard's "advocacy of just and helpful treatment to men and women, whatever their race, lineage, politics or opinion."

The invocation was offered by the Rev. Edward O. Clark, pastor of the Chevy Chase Baptist Church and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. William O. Carrington, pastor of the John Wesley A. M. E. Zion Church. The university orchestra presented a program of music.

TO SUFFER discomfort from heat is bad enough—but your work suffers—your energy, efficiency, your appetite, digestion, disposition—they all suffer. And at night you can't sleep.

So to suffer from heat is more than uncomfortable. It is dangerous to your health. And to a great extent unnecessary.

A General Electric Fan may now be bought for as little as $3.45—a GENERAL ELECTRIC Fan that operates for less than half a cent an hour—a fan which, because it is General Electric, has an average life of twenty years.

General Electric Fans are skilfully and scientifically designed and manufactured. They give you controlled circulation . . . an immense and rapid discharge of air or a gentle breeze, as desired. Better, cooler ventilation; lasting, efficient, economical operation—that's why it's wise to look carefully for the G-E monogram.

And since General Electric cooling breezes cost you so very little—and suffering costs you so very much—don't you owe yourself—and your family—and your office—a General Electric Fan this very day?

ROOTS OF THE TAX SCANDAL.

The public is greatly agitated over revelation of the fact that some wealthy men escaped payment of income taxes by selling stock to members of their families to establish technical losses. But agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue are not excited about it. Transactions of this kind are common routine to them. The indications are that thousands of such reports are approved by these agents every month.

It is worth while to note that in each case where individuals have been accused of cheating the Government they have set up as a defense of their action the fact that their returns were approved by agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau. In the trial of Charles E. Mitchell, who is accused of defrauding the Government of income taxes on several counts, it was revealed that an agent who had been accustomed to approving Mr. Mitchell's return went out of his way to sanction the deal by which Mitchell transferred stock to his wife to avoid payment of a tax.

There may be some significance also in the fact that some of the New York agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue were called as defense witnesses in the Mitchell trial. One of them declined to testify when he was first put on the witness stand, saying: "This might mean a $1,000 fine or that I'd lose my job or go to jail."

If there is anything wrong with the method used by Thomas S. Lamont to reduce his income tax by about $20,000, it completely escaped notice by agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Mr. Lamont says that "complete information was given to the bureau regarding both my sale in December, 1930, and my purchase in April, 1931." The bureau made no criticism of his return and there was no request for redetermination of the tax. Mr. Lamont may have complied with the letter of the law, but it does appear that a little more diligence in the investigation of cases of this kind might save the Government a good deal of money.

Regardless of what may be the outcome of the cases resulting from the Senate's investigation, there is no excuse for perpetuation of the present inefficient methods of assessing and collecting income taxes. Agents of the Government who approve the returns of wealthy men are not trained experts but politicians who have obtained their jobs because of their ability to influence votes in a campaign. Part of the public resentment which is directed at millionaires who dodge their income taxes should be directed at the incompetent officials who approve such action without challenge. No doubt the Government has lost hundreds of millions of dollars in the last three years because politicians are entrusted with the job of collecting taxes.

Of course, the bureau has many efficient attorneys and investigators in Washington and elsewhere, but they are not able to correct all the blunders of the political taxgatherers. The Bureau of Internal Revenue ought to be one of the most expert agencies in the Government, yet most of the key positions are not even under civil service. One certain result of these scandals in the collection of taxes should be the transfer of the bureau's entire personnel to the merit system. Tax scandals would be virtually impossible if this bureau were functioning properly.

LOSS OF LIFE AT SEA.

To the average person it would seem incredible that any ship should be allowed to put to sea without having lifeboat capacity sufficient to accommodate all persons on board in case of necessity. The greatest tragedies of ocean travel for a century past, however, show almost without exception that the loss of the majority of the passengers was due to insufficient emergency equipment. Ships with capacity for carrying more than 1,000 passengers continued to sail with lifeboats that would carry but 200 to 300 persons.

The great sea accidents of history emphasize the necessity of the ratification by this country of the treaty that will assist in enforcing greater safety. Eighty years ago the world was shocked by the sinking of the troop ship Birkenhead, when 543 persons were lost and only 97 saved. All could have been saved if there had been a sufficient number of boats properly stowed for launching. Thirty years later the Teuton foundered, with a proportionate loss of life due to the same cause. In the Titanic disaster 706 passengers were taken off in boats that were lacking for 1,517 who perished.

Many other less sensational shipwrecks have registered loss of life proportionately great through faulty or insufficient equipment. After each disaster demands for stricter regulations are heard for a time, and then the matter is gradually forgotten. The necessity for coordinated international action to remedy this situation is readily apparent. This country is laggard in failing to ratify the treaty already being enforced by nearly a score of nations. It should not require another preventable disaster to compel this necessary action.

CZAR OVER DISTRICT FUNDS.

To make its regime of dictatorships complete Congress has given the Director of the Budget arbitrary powers over various local expenditures in the District of Columbia. Why the Budget Bureau should supersede the District Commissioners in this respect is a mystery that Congress has not explained. The Senate bill conferred these powers upon the commissioners, but the House insisted that responsibility should be lodged in an official of the Federal Government. It is amazing that the Senate surrendered to such an absurd proposal.

The funds in question are derived entirely from local taxes. They consist of a $1,500,000 surplus in the gasoline tax fund which has been set aside for construction of the Calvert Street bridge and highway construction, and $635,000 in the water tax fund which is available for improvements in the water system. Only local officials who are in a position to know the needs of the District are competent to decide whether these expenditures should be made. But Congress has left the decision to the Director of the Federal Budget, whose time, energy and interests are concentrated upon national finances.

Moreover, the Director of the Budget must give his approval before certain local departments may shift appropriations from one fund to another to avoid distressing shortages due to the sharp trimming of the budget. So far as these powers are concerned, the Federal Budget Bureau becomes a financial czar over the District. The heads of the District government—who are responsible to the President for the conduct of District affairs—are denied authority over these purely local transactions.

Common sense calls for complete separation of the District and Federal budgets. If Congress is to remain the city council of the District, it should at least consider local financial matters on their own merit. But Congress is not moving in that direction. It is conferring more and not less arbitrary powers over local affairs upon the Director of the Budget. Hope of Washington citizens that Congress would establish a fair, equitable and reasonable relationship between the District and the Government has suffered another severe blow.

AIDING INVESTORS.

The passage of the Federal securities act permits opportune formation of the Corporation of Foreign Security Holders. This organization will be sponsored by the Government and one of its first duties, undoubtedly, will be in connection with the $1,000,000,000 in German gold bonds upon which the Reichsbank is expected to suspend service payments.

The need of an organization to represent American investors in foreign securities has long been felt. It is well that in the present chaotic financial situation the security corporation will have the added prestige of Federal backing, although it will not act in the name of the Government.

The corporation will be under control of a board of six directors to be appointed by the Federal Trade Commission. It is stipulated that no director shall, for five years previous to his being named, have been connected either directly or indirectly with any organization which has handled foreign securities. The corporation is empowered to convene meetings of foreign securities holders and to receive deposits of bonds in default. In negotiating with the debtors any agreements made will become binding upon all if ratified by the owners of 60 per cent of the bonds deposited with the corporation.

To inaugurate the work $75,000 has been appropriated, but it is expected that the corporation will become self-supporting through the moderate fees it is authorized to collect—one-fifth of 1 per cent upon deposit of bonds, with 1 per cent of the face value fixed as the maximum levy that can be assessed. The corporation will begin to function whenever the President announces by proclamation that it is in the public interest for it to do so.

New York financial circles expect to see prompt organization effected, due particularly to the German bond situation. While remittances from Berlin will be suspended many of the corporations floating dollar bonds in the United States have subsequently been purchasers of American securities at very low levels and it is believed that in many instances the bond service can be fairly met from balances held in this country. In view of this fact, the decision regarding the future course of American interests will be greatly facilitated by the early organization of the new foreign security corporation.

HIGHWAY DEVELOPMENT.

It is gratifying to note that Senate action included the District of Columbia as a participant in the distribution of the $400,000,000 provided by the national recovery act for highway construction. So often treated as a stepchild that must beg as a special dispensation the favors generally distributed among the States, the District is this time to be admitted as one of the minimum beneficiaries, and will receive about $2,000,000 for road work. It can be used to good advantage, both from the standpoint of improving entrances to the Capital and in providing labor promptly for the unemployed.

Highway construction is generally recognized as one of the quickest means of putting men to work and Secretary of Labor Perkins has recently commended this use of public funds as assuring application of the maximum percentage to the payment of wages. More, wider and better highways between Washington and the metropolitan centers of the Atlantic Seaboard are urgently required to care for the constantly increasing motor traffic and to insure safety of travel.

In connection with this vast and general distribution of Federal funds to the States there might well be concerted plans formulated for the construction of continuous express highways to care for intercity traffic. The metropolitan area of New York formulated a 40-year plan of regional improvements in which this class of roads occupied an important place. During the last three years 10 per cent of the plan has been completed. Radiating from the suburbs of New York there are now various through highways that save motorists much time and add greatly to enjoyment and safety.

Express highways eliminate grade crossings, and it is possible to drive for ten or fifteen miles at a stretch along one of these boulevards without encountering any cross traffic. Such a highway should be built between Washington, Baltimore, Wilmington, Philadelphia and New York. Plans made four years ago for the New York district included 253 miles of express highways, of which nearly three-fourths have already been built. It is a feature of modern road construction which the District might well consider in connection with the forthcoming appropriation for highways.

WALTER JOHNSON RETURNS.

Fans of Washington in particular and fans generally will rejoice over the return of Walter Johnson to baseball. The pitching idol of the Capital who later successfully managed the club for which he toiled so long, tomorrow takes over the management of the Cleveland team.

Baseball fate is playing strange tricks with Walter Johnson and the man he succeeds at Cleveland, Roger Peckinpaugh. Peckinpaugh was the shortstop of the Nationals in their championship days. When Clark Griffith decided to drop Stanley Harris as manager, it was no secret that Peckinpaugh wanted the job. Johnson got it. Now in Cleveland Johnson once more takes over a job from Peckinpaugh.

While Washington fans will remain loyal to Joe Cronin and his team, they will be cheering next for Johnson to succeed with the Indians. The Washington-Cleveland games hereafter ought to bring forth some great baseball.

And likewise, these same National rooters will be hoping Peckinpaugh will remain in the game and succeed. For they still remember what he did to bring the championship to Washington.

Settlement of the row over veterans' benefits is not quite definite yet. Congressmen are waiting to hear from the lobbies back home.

Jim Couzens may not be much of a diplomat, but it's a cinch that he won't let Secretary Hull give Michigan away.

In this emergency such urgently necessary reforms as the Glass banking bill can go over till the next session.

J. P. Morgan & Co. are determined to prove that Secretary Woodin was not the forgotten man.

Germany just couldn't wait for the general moratorium. American creditors will do the waiting.

When Secretary Hull referred to the Irish "republic" he forgot his destination was London.

Let's see, what became of that picturesque Texan who used to be Speaker of the House?

Congress has piled up a lot of work for the Supreme Court during the last three days.

Adjournment seemed to be a long way off until Old Man Sol got to working on 'em.

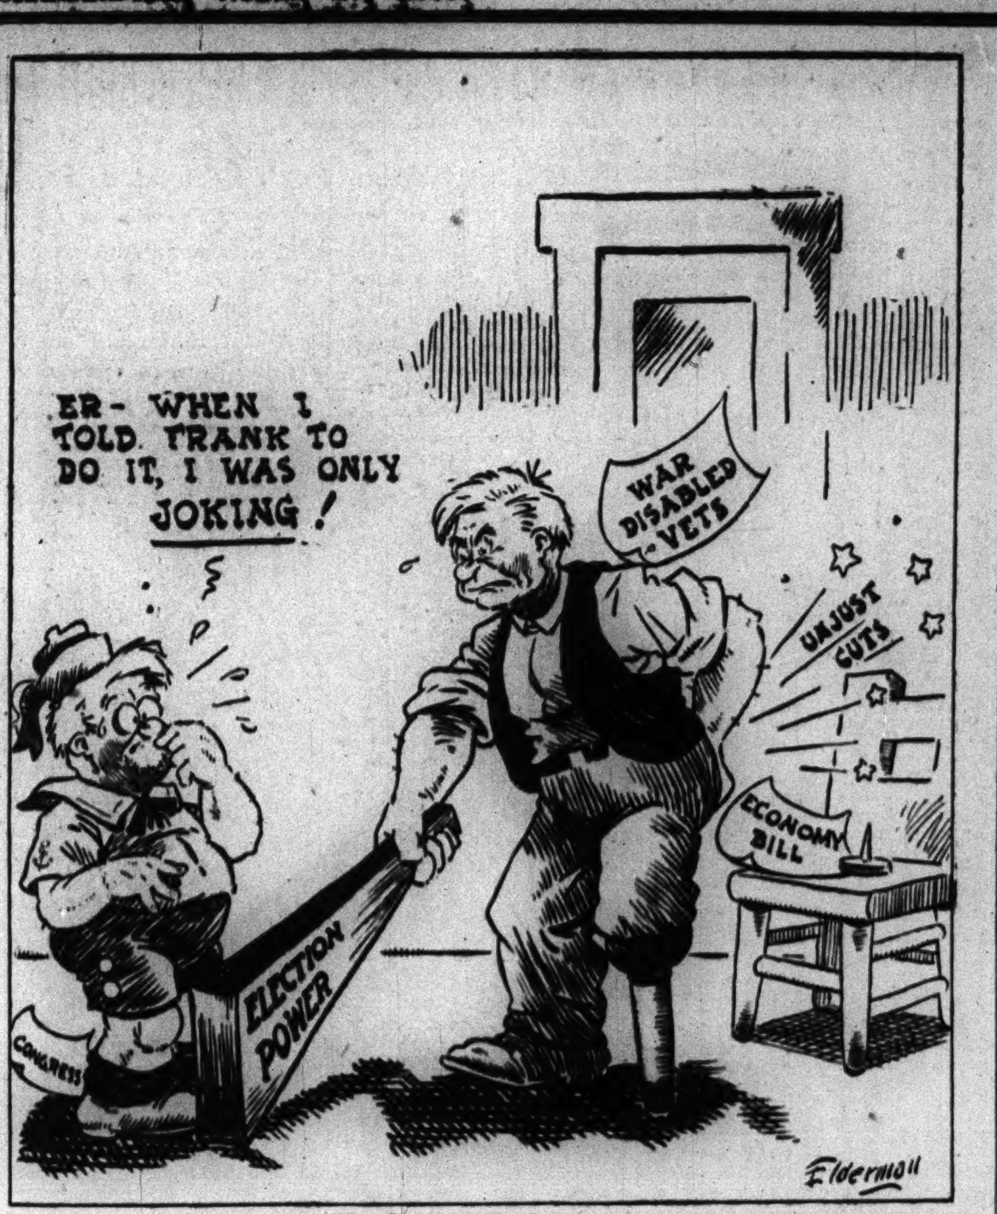
FLYING COPS

From the Boston Transcript.

After a cabin cruiser was stolen from its moorings near the house of the New Brunswick (N. J.) Yacht Club an airplane was used in the search for the craft. The two men in the plane scanning the waters over which they flew discovered the stolen yacht at anchor in Jamaica Bay. Thereupon they flew to a landing field where they could get in touch with the air force of the police. A police captain, a sergeant, a mechanic and a pilot promptly took to the air, using an amphibian plane. They dropped to the water near the stolen yacht. Two men who had been on board were seen rowing toward the shore and were headed off and arrested. The owner was soon in possession of his yacht. The men were locked up. A little incident in twentieth century police work was closed.

"Flying cops" are not numerous, but it goes without saying that there will be more of them as the years pass. There may never be such congestion in the air as to make necessary a traffic police corresponding to that which controls the conflicting currents of motor and pedestrian travel in crowded streets, but it does not require the exercise of much imagination to discover ways in which the air police of the future will find work to do.

That the police should take to the air as they already have in New York is no more surprising than their adoption of the motor car as an aid in police work. That travel in airplanes should result in the creation of a special police force is as logical a development as that of the establishment of the State police forces to patrol the highways over which move the procession of the automobiles. Therefore the shadow of that police plane flying over the water in search of the stolen yacht may be said to have been a case in which coming events cast their shadows before.



The Day of Reckoning.

POST HASTE.

Move over, arms and debts! Make room for tariffs, and we'll call it a tripartite truce for trussed triplets.

Congress is going to fade out of the picture, still playing the role of the fox terrier listening to the Victor.

If the District can't be trusted with the franchise and must have a foreign dictator, like Hawaii, to be in style, Lew Douglas is not so bad.

Weak beer is a mockery, but if 11 per cent wine will increase respect for the eighteenth amendment, 100 proof rye ought to defeat repeal.

It is evident that the sales tax can not be considered simply perfect by Congress because it is so perfectly simple.

"Silent street car startles Brooklyn." If one ever passes Fourteenth and Pennsylvania avenue the shock will cause numerous fatalities.

The Senate decided the hearing was too hot on the trail of the bankers to put it in cold storage until next winter.

The American delegation in London won't discuss debts and is not authorized to consider tariffs, so it's a good thing money talks.

Secretary Hull's 10 per cent tariff cut to spur foreign trade has been doubled by a 20 per cent exchange loss that will keep the dollar at home.

It will be interesting to learn when the flying Mollisons arrive whether they had a pacific crossing of the Atlantic and which was the back-seat driver.

It would seem that the sure way to be obeyed regarding next Thursday's debt payments is for the President to order a morato—or call it what he likes.

The executive idea is that when Congress adjourns to the ball game today it might just as well keep on going.

We trust the American delegation in London knows that the rise in the value of the pound and the decline in gold coverage of the mark do not betide just by happenstance.

Speaking of the weather, it still remains not so much a question of the heat as the bromidity.

HUNGER.

I want to go fishing! somewhere on a stream
I want to give way to the longing to dream.
Away from the tumult of motor and mill
I want to be care-free; I want to be still!
I'm weary of doing things; weary of words
I want to be one with the blossoms and birds.

I want to push off from the river-kissed shore
Alone with my dreams and my fancies once more.
I am wearying of reading the books on my shelf.
I want to be quiet and think for myself.
I've a feeling sometimes of huge things crushing me
And I want to go somewhere and set my soul free.

I want to go fishing! to sit all alone
Where only the purest of breezes are blown;
To visit in worlds that are different from ours,
The worlds of the insects, the song birds, the flowers;
To question the skies and the waters below
And be the glad youth I was long long ago.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

My dear Louise: One morning years ago, before you had learned the art of walking, you stood on your uncertain pins with both hands clinging to a footstool and loudly demanded that I carry you to the next room.

I had other plans and walked away despite your howls of protest. And then you did something that proved your red hair no idle gesture, and gave me an inkling of the job ahead of me.

You deliberately pushed away from the stool and threw yourself backward to crack your head on the floor. It's a trick used by wild-eyed bronchos when they can dislodge a rider in no other way.

Well, a lot of patience and counsel, plus good team-work on your part, finally conquered the temper and put the devil in his proper place, and I thought the mess was finished.

But that little incident yesterday afternoon opened my eyes, and now I realize that our job of licking the temper was a little too well done.

So now I wish to undo part of what I have done and suggest a safety valve to prevent further explosions.

The old adage says, "Beware the wrath of a patient man." Do you know why his wrath is dreadful? Because he has been storing up wrath a little at a time and turns it loose all at once.

When something happens to rile your temper you have enough control to hold your tongue and pretend that you feel no urge to do battle. So far, so good. But you don't forget. That bottled-up temper stays in your system. And if the same thing happens again and again, or the same person continues to offend you, the time comes when some very small matter proves the last unbearable straw—and then the words and tears of wrath fly in spite of you.

You aren't to blame for that. People can stand just so much pressure on a sore spot.

But here is the danger. If holding your temper causes you to remember the offense that aroused it you will soon develop the habit of holding grudges and treasuring malice. And that will ruin your whole life. I'd rather see you physically crippled than mentally warped by the habit of remembering little grievances.

There is only one way out. Use a safety valve. When you can control your temper and generously forget the offense, do that. But when you can't be that generous, say your say as gently as you can and get it out of your system. A display of temper is shameful, but let the fire fly if that is the only way to avoid bearing a grudge. Love,

DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Veterans and Congress.

Boston Transcript.

One of the main objectives of the President, in his use of powers granted him in the economy law, is to eliminate the most scandalous abuse in the history of pension legislation. The balancing of the budget is even secondary to that achievement. He has modified the excessive cuts promulgated in the regulations framed by the Veterans' Bureau, and whether as a gesture of concession to the victims of the soldier lobby on Capitol Hill or merely as incident to the working out of an equitable system is immaterial, for the country knows that he would not tolerate inequity to deserving veterans and that he would move as quickly as possible to remedy any injustice.

The rebels in Congress are guided by no such consideration. Their leaders are the same that have tried for more than two years to foist another undeserved bonus payment upon a weakened Treasury, and should they win now their next step would be to plunge the Government $3,000,000,000 more in debt. They are frightened to death by the threats of the soldier lobby, forgetting that taxpayers are more numerous than veterans, regardless that for every case of temporary injustice disclosed in the rolls, a hundred could be cited of payments that are simply graft.

A Partisan Banking System.

New York Herald Tribune.

One of the primary requisites of a sound national banking system, it has long been agreed, is a central bank that is free of political control. So important is this consideration in the mind of one of our foremost authorities on finance, Prof. J. Laurence Laughlin, for example, that in his most recent work, "The Federal Reserve Act: Its Origin and Its Problems," this expert devotes an entire chapter to "The Bane of Politics" in our banking system. Politics, Prof. Laughlin declares, "is the curse of monetary legislation in this country."

France Prefers Debt.

Houston Post.

A significant development abroad is the action of the French parliament in accepting the government's budget carrying a deficit of $145,000,000. Parliament acted, apparently, in response to demands from taxpayers that the tax burden upon them not be increased. France thus enters upon a course in which increasing the public debt is held preferable to increasing taxes at this time.

Joseph Paul-Boncour, premier prior to Edouard Daladier, was swept from power a few months ago, when he advocated raising taxes 5 per cent. Daladier was given a vote of confidence when he proposed accepting a 10 per cent deficit. The French people, it seems, are for postponing complete payment of government expenses until a future time, when they think, perhaps, they will be better able to pay. In any event, they are for postponement, and they have forced the government to accept their view.

WASHINGTON MUSIC.

("Secretary Woodin told the graduates that music was needed as much as anything else to stimulate American courage at this time. He said that President Roosevelt always whistled when in trouble."—News item.)

I.

When the going isn't easy
And the Senate won't behave;
When the seas are thick and greasy
And the outlook's very grave,
Do I take to foolish broodin',
Do I let myself cave in?
No; I send for Willie Woodin
And his little violin!

II.

When the finance bill perplexes
And the House stirs up a row;
When the budget problem vexes
To such burdens do I bow?
Do I sit around and worry
Through the hot and humid day?
Nix; I phone to Woodin, "Hurry
With that fiddle that you play!"

III.

When the progress at Geneva
Is depressing through and through,
Do I go to bed and leave a
Note that I am sick and blue?
When the League seems most unholy
Do I let my face grow long?
I get Howe and Berle and Moley
And we have a quartet song!

IV.

When I can't quite get things going
And the wheels begin to clog;
When the icy winds start blowing
And the bus gets in the bog,
Do I sputter and complain just
To show how my heart despairs?
No; I telephone the Brain Trust
And we hum some pretty airs!

V.

When the new deal sort of slows up
And the cards all seem to stick;
When some crisis pokes its nose up
And the going's pretty thick;
When there's some annoying parley
Does the gloom my brow enwreath?
Bah! I summon Big Jim Farley—
He can whistle through his teeth!

VI.

Oh, a whistle's necessary
When one rules the U. S. A.;
In the White House it is very Helpful through the trying day;
Trouble? Why, we whistle through it—
Whistle out of every fix,
And I hope that we can do it
Still in Nineteen Thirty-Six!

HOW IT FIGURES OUT.

Congress' sudden concern for the veterans is due not so much to consideration for the veterans as to a fear that unless they do a little shouting they themselves will become veterans.

Secretary Woodin says that there is nothing like music for America in trying times like these. Think what the Democratic administration might accomplish if they had a few good saxophone players!

Mr. Albert Payson Terhune was given an honorary degree by Columbia the other day. He was presumably presented with a shepherd skin.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Demagogues Prevent Enactment of Sales Tax, Which Common People Want.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This is to let you know that I am with The Post in its view, as I understood it, that the way in which some common garden politicians shy at the so-called sales tax is astonishing. It is clear to me how they cling to the idea that the tax is a poor man's burden and will cause dissatisfaction on his part. The idea has been handed down to them by demagogues following the dark centuries when the masses actually were taxed to death—robbed of the fruits of the soil—by feudal barons and luxurious kings. The astonishing thing is that any of our twentieth century politicians are, so to speak, still mired in the past in so far as the question of taxation is concerned.

A simple schoolboy's computation will show that to call the manufacturers' sales tax a poor man's burden is the extreme of absurdity. It will not be many years, I trust, until the last taxation demagogue will be forced to understand that the American masses will gladly contribute such a tax in support of their Government, provided it is so administered as to give them a fair chance to earn "a decent living" in the American sense of the term.

"Them's My Sentiments," Says Writer in Condemning Motorist's Demand for Destruction of Circles.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Perhaps you may recall the old story of the indolent and taciturn old deacon and the Lord's Prayer. You may remember that he hung a copy of the prayer above his bed and on retiring at night and getting up in the morning would fix his eyes on the printed words with the fervent remark, "Them's my sentiments." That is about the way I was situated when you printed Theresa Russell's fine and angry protest against destruction of parks and circles for the benefit of "a few thousand unnecessary flivvers" which "banderlog furiously about in their own headlong way and save a few split seconds in their drivers' unimportant careers."

I had just been thinking up a letter in regard to the ravaging of Thomas Circle by traffic Goths and Vandals. But on reading what she had to say I decided that to add anything to it would be superfluous, except to heartily exclaim, "Them's my sentiments!"

Happenings in Washington Society Circles

President Is Joined At White House By Daughters.

THE PRESIDENT WAS joined early yesterday afternoon by his daughter Mrs. Curtis Dall, who arrived from New York to remain over the week-end with her father and her two children, Sistie and Buzzie Dall, who have been at the White House for some time.

The Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Cintas left yesterday for New York to spend a few days.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. George H. Dern will leave today for West Point, where they will be the guests of the Superintendent of the Military Academy and Mrs. William D. Connor until Tuesday. They will be joined by their son, Mr. James Dern, in New York, who will come from Dartmouth and will accompany them on their return to Washington.

Helen Coolidge Engaged To Assistant Secretary Woodring.

Senator and Mrs. Marcus Coolidge yesterday announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Coolidge, to the Assistant Secretary of War, Mr. Harry H. Woodring, at a luncheon given at their home, in Fitchburg, Mass.

The engagement is of great interest in Washington as it is the first betrothal in official circles of the new administration. The wedding will take place on July 25, at the Coolidge home in Fitchburg.

Miss Coolidge attended the Mary C. Wheeler School, at Princeton, R. I.; the Bradford Academy, at Bradford; Boston University and the Fine Arts and Crafts School, in Boston. Later she pursued further studies in art under Winold Reiss, New York City artist, noted for his work in crayons. She has executed portraits of several members of Congress and last summer spent some time studying Indian types in the Yosemite region of the West. During the year and a half that Miss Coolidge has made her home in Washington she has been one of the popular members of the younger official set.

Mr. Woodring, who was formerly Governor of Kansas, has been placed in charge of civilian construction, since becoming a member of President Roosevelt's junior cabinet.

With Senator Coolidge, Mr. Woodring will fly on an inspection trip to the Conservation Corps unit at Fort Devens.

Miss Hutton Holds Reins on Fortune

Paris, June 9 (A.P.).—When Miss Barbara Hutton, heiress to part of the millions left by the late F. W. Woolworth, marries Prince Alexis Mdivani, June 20, she will retain control of her fortune.

This was learned today from William S. Pauling-Emrich, international consulting lawyer, who is advising two New York attorneys in the drawing up of the marriage contract. M. Pauling-Emrich said that Miss Hutton will "retain complete control of the disposition of her entire property." The contract also limits the inheritance of the Georgian nobleman in the event of his wife's death.

Friends of the prince said he was getting a large marriage settlement, but the attorney refused to divulge any further details about the contract.

GRAND SLAM BIDDING.

WITH the greatly increased premiums for Grand Slams, most players at the Bridge table feel that they have missed something if they hold a lay-down Grand Slam and stopped short of it in the bidding. Such a feeling is quite correct. Generally speaking, Grand Slams which are made in play and do not depend too much upon freakish distribution can be read by the precise exchange of information in the contracting.

Mr. Hillis H. Deeds, of Toledo, submitted to me the hand below, which he played recently in a Rubber game and in which he and his partner stopped short of the Grand Slam, their bidding being as follows:

North, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

♠ A K 9 7
♡ K 10 8 7 6
♢ A 5 4

♠ 6 4 3
♡ J 9 5 2
♢ K Q 10 2
♣ J 9

♢ J 9 3
♣ Q 10 8 7 4 3 2

♠ Q J 10 8 2
♡ A Q
♢ 8 7 6
♣ K 6 5

The actual bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♡	Pass	1♠	Pass
5♠	Pass	6♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

In place of the bidding above, I would suggest the following: (Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

North	East	South	West
1♡	Pass	1♠	Pass
3♢(1)	Pass	3♡(2)	Pass
3♠(3)	Pass	5♠(4)	Pass
5NT(5)	Pass	7♠(6)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—A Forcing Takeout with a three-card suit. North has a magnificent fit with his partner's Takeout and hence is justified in adopting this course.

2—South, of course, accepts North's bids at their face value. While he holds three diamonds and only two are very important ones and it seems wise at this time to indicate that the hand can well be played in the heart suit.

3—North does not need to hurry. His future bidding will be tempered by South's response to this bid.

4—South holds the Ace-Queen of hearts, a fair five-card trump suit, and the King of clubs in addition. North has not only opened the bidding, but has made a Forcing Rebid and in addition has shown support for spades. The contract of five, which invites further action if North has the values not already shown, should be entirely safe.

5—North not only holds three Aces and the King of a bid suit, but has very fine distribution and an additional King—namely the King of trumps. The bid of five notrump is clearly indicated.

6—South knows that North has a five-card heart suit because of the order in which the suits were bid. He knows that he holds three Aces; hence the partnership has control of any lead. Obviously losing diamonds in South's hand can be discarded on North's long hearts. The Grand Slam should be bid.

"MOCK" PRESERVES WIN POST $5 PRIZE

Mrs. Harry Sheets Triumphs With Recipe on Summer Fruits and Berries.

Those who "put up" the summer's fruits and berries will be pleased to see the recipe which won this week's Post $5 award. It is for "mock sunshine preserves" and was submitted by Mrs. Harry Sheets, of Woodstock, Va. The recipe follows:

Wash and stem three quarts of strawberries. Drain off all water. Place in a kettle and cook over a low blaze until all the juice seems to be drawn from the berries. Skim out the berries. They will be pale and collapsed.

Measure juice. To each cupful add three cupfuls of sugar. Cook this mixture until it is thick and jellied. Add the berries and boil for three minutes. Pour into shallow pans to become thoroughly cold before canning. The berries will again be plump and bright. Place in jars and cover with paraffin.

Do not use more berries than recipe calls for, as the results will not be as good.

The Meanderer

Finds Method for Odorless Cookery and Fuel Saving—Cool Foods in Glass and Tin.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Summer cookery may have the relieving feature of being entirely odorless with the use of sheets of a patented paper-like material that a grocery store is selling. Packages of a dozen sheets will serve many uses in the kitchen. For odorless cooking, vegetables are placed in the moistened sheets, seasoned and tied into bag form, then placed in a pan only one-fourth full of boiling water. The food juices are preserved while cooking odors are prevented. More than one vegetable may be cooked at one time, thus saving fuel. The useful paper-like sheets are insoluble, greaseproof, tasteless and odorless. They may be used in the oven for pan covers or pan linings, preventing the burning of foods and staining of utensils. It follows that they are useful for refrigerator and for lunch packing. Astonishingly enough, these magic sheets may become dish cloths. They may be rinsed quickly, or washed with soap and will dry in less than 15 minutes. A downtown grocery store asks 25 cents for a package of 12 of these housekeeping helps. The sheets measure 24 by 24 inches.

A glass jar of shrimps that used to fail to tempt many housekeepers because its price was 35 cents, is now only 19 cents in a big chain store on Thirteenth street, where the Meanderer can always find timely food suggestions. Tins of shrimps sell for 10 cents.

A moist, fresh orange cake in two layers, weighing two pounds or more, sells today for 59 cents in the chain store mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

Fruits probably have the strongest appeal of any foods during these sweltering June days. Therefore, the two cans of apricots for 31 cents, two cans of red raspberries for 29 cents and cans of mixed fruits selling for 15 cents should be on the cupboard shelf through this time, when meal planning is difficult. Ask for these fruits in the chain store the Meanderer visits.

A large, well-stocked grocery in the northwest section has interesting prepared, or easily-prepared foods to offer for the week-end marketing list. A whole ox-tongue in glass, boneless chicken for salads, choice lobster and crabmeat, mushrooms in olive oil, artichokes in oil, garnished with carrots, filets of anchovies rolled with capers or with pimientos, small crisp crackers flavored with roquefort cheese, olives stuffed with caviar, and crunchy pastries variously flavored and not too heavy for summer afternoon tea, all have decided appeal on the shelves of this store.

Chicken and tomato consomme in cans is available, ready for turning into jellied consomme by pouring the contents of the can into a pan or dish and allowing it to set in the icebox for 6 or 8 hours. This combination of chicken and tomato consomme is used with a salad to make a balanced summer meal.

Four baked apples in frilled paper cups packed in cans are a brand-new offering in a grocery store the Meanderer often visits.

Fifteen limes and a lime squeezer are selling in a drug store today for 57 cents. The squeezer is a clamping, easily working type, ordinarily selling for 39 cents.

Highly efficient flat-shaped glass bottles, quart capacity, particularly useful for refrigerator water containers, are only 10 cents in the drug store featuring the limes and lime squeezer.

Senate Meets Milkman When Both Go to Work

Madison, Wis., June 9 (A.P.).—The State Senate went to work with the milkman today, started in at 5 a. m. on a lagging calendar and took action to bring about an early adjournment of the session. Within five hours after it had established the precedent of meeting at sunrise the Senate had cleaned up almost 50 bills.

Everybody thought the senators, having suffered from a few days of intensive heat, were playing a joke when they voted yesterday to meet at 5 o'clock this morning. But 23 members answered the opening roll call.

Mrs. Roosevelt Accepts Post in Flag Association

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will serve as honorary chairman of the Women's National Council of the United States Flag Association, it was announced yesterday. Mrs. Edward F. Hutton, of New York City, is chairman. Others who have recently accepted service on the council are Mrs. John Nance Garner and the wives of all the members of the Cabinet.

The program of the association has been adopted as part of the regular schedule of instruction of the public schools in several States at the suggestion of Commissioner of Education William J. Cooper.

Gene Dennis Entertains Capital Advertising Club

Members of the Washington Advertising Club were entertained by Gene Dennis, the young woman physchic, at a luncheon of the club yesterday at the Raleigh Hotel.

Miss Dennis, who began a return engagement at Keith's Theater yesterday, answered a number of problems confronting club members and their guests, and made several prognostications. C. Melvin Sharpe, of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., and Norman C. Kal, were among those who learned they are to receive a large sum of money.

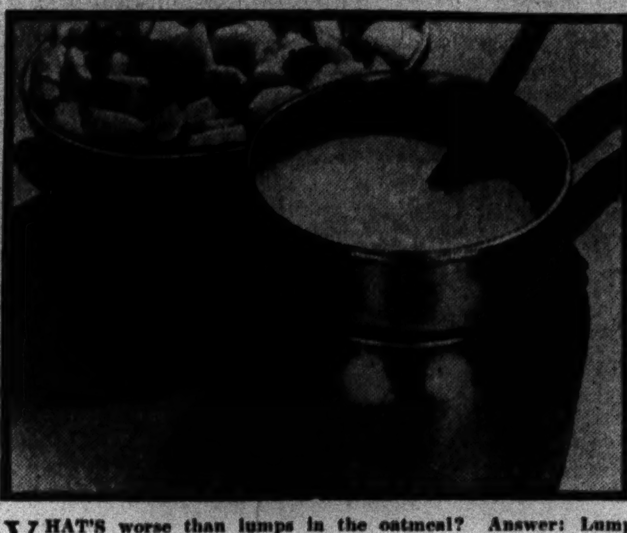
WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

GOOD CREAM SAUCE BASIS OF MANY DELICIOUS DISHES

By ANN BARRETT



WHAT'S worse than lumps in the oatmeal? Answer: Lumps in the cream sauce. Because more cream sauce is eaten, in one way or another.

You've got to have it for the smooth-as-velvet cream soups that make a hit with Screen Star Kay Francis. For the just-right au gratin potatoes that William C. Durant, the automobile man, likes to mate up with his lamb chops. For creamed meat, fish, eggs. For souffles. For croquettes.

So it might be a good idea to check up on the P's and Q's of making good cream or white sauce. Here they are. First, do not let the fat brown. Second, blend in the flour thoroughly, and cook it with the fat over a moderate fire till it bubbles. Third, pour in the liquid gradually, while stirring fast and constantly. Fourth, pour the liquid in cold—it's less likely to cause lumping. Fifth, always use a double boiler, if you have trouble making cream sauce, as the sauce cooks more slowly this way, and is less likely to lump.

Five Degrees of Thickness.

Aside from these directions, here are the ingredients for cream sauce—ranging from very thin to very thick, according to their use.

For cream soups, use very thin cream sauce (½ tablespoon fat, ½ tablespoon flour, 1 cup liquid.) For meat, starchy foods, fish, use thin cream sauce (1 tablespoon fat, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup liquid). For creamed vegetables, creamed eggs and so on, use medium cream sauce (2 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup liquid). For souffles, use thick cream sauce (3 tablespoons fat, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup liquid). For croquettes, use very thick cream sauce (4 tablespoons fat, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup liquid).

Liquid may be all milk, or part milk, part cream. Or part water left from cooking meat or vegetables. Fat may be butter, vegetable fat, cooking oil, bacon fat. In all cases, season when sauce is done, with ¼ teaspoon salt and few grains of pepper. In summer, it's especially convenient to make up a good batch of sauce ahead of time, and store it in refrigerator in glass jars.

Cream of Spinach Soup.

Here's very thin cream sauce in a timely summer soup. Put enough cooked spinach (about 1 pound before cooking) through a sieve to make 2 cups spinach puree. Combine this with 2 cups very thin white sauce, heat thoroughly, add ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg (slick, if you like it!), turn out into cups and garnish with whipped cream.

New Potatoes au Gratin.

And here's thin cream sauce in new potatoes au gratin—a dish that'll make flavor harmony with any broiled or fried meat or fish.

First put 2 cups cubed new potatoes (cooked) into baking dish. Then pour over them 1 cup of thin white sauce. Top with ¼ cup grated or ground American cheese mixed with ¼ cup fine bread crumbs. Brown in 400 degrees Fahrenheit over about 15 minutes. (If you like more cheese, sprinkle another ½ cup through the potatoes, or melt it in the cream sauce.)

Send for Cake Recipes.

Now, while I'm on this subject of mastering the P's and Q's of cooking things just right, I'll just mention a brand new cake bulletin, "Secrets of Fine Cakes for Parties," that tells just how to turn out those grand cakes needed for June parties and summer eating in general—that is, wedding cake, bride's cake, bridegroom's cake, sponge and angel cake, and jelly rolls oozing luscious fillings.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE Aldershot Tattoo, England's famous military pageant, will be broadcast over WJSV at 5:45 o'clock tonight. Each year the flower of British soldiery reports to the Hampshire town for the spectacular maneuvers and drills.

The Tattoo is staged at the Rushmoor Arena, a great natural amphitheater, and its purpose is to commemorate England's outstanding military victories from the middle ages up to the present. Many of the famous scenes will be reenacted under the glare of powerful searchlights because, though still daylight here, it will be nighttime in England.

The feature of the transatlantic broadcast will be the march of the massed army bands. Microphones will be placed on the reviewing stand to catch the stirring strains produced by 1,000 military musicians.

If you wonder about some of the theme songs you are obliged to listen to you may be enlightened by the following paragraph which has just come to hand from New York:

"Charles P. Hughes needed a theme song in the worst way. He had a new program, 'Talkie Picture Time' all set to go on the air in three days over the networks. But there was no theme song.

"Hughes, however, is a pretty good whistler. So he proceeded to whistle an appropriate tune for his new program. The idea worked. With his friend, Lou Pearl, he sat at the piano and picked out the melody, titled it "Night Time," and rushed it to the arranger. The song went on the air in three days. And Hughes claims that's record time for whistling, writing, arranging and broadcasting a new theme song."

CONGRATULATIONS to Don Craig, sr., upon the success of the National Press Club radio series. For the most part the talks had to do with former Presidents of the United States, the impressions of correspondents who knew them intimately. An exception was Oswald F. Schuette, former Berlin correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, who told about the experiences of the last Americans to leave Germany before the declaration of war.

Charles A. Hamilton gave his audience a close-up of Grover Cleveland, James Hay, jr., gave some sidelights of Taft, Frank B. Lord, Theodore Roosevelt; Carter Field, Harding; Fred Essary, Woodrow Wilson, and Gillilan Coolidge.

The talks were all tip-top and, compiled into book form, would make mighty good reading.

Claude W. Owen, president of the Washington Board of Trade, will speak over WJSV tonight at 6:30 o'clock on the work of the Greater National Capital Committee.

Robert J. Cottrell, secretary of the Board of Trade, will talk from WMAL at 7 o'clock on the same subject.

If you hear singers over WRC at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon it will be the American University Quartet.

"The Meaning of the Cross" will be explained by Louis B. Nichols, of the organized Bible Class Association (WMAL, 5 p. m.).

Despite the heat the Washington Juvenile Artists Club will be on deck this morning (WJSV, 10:30).

HAVING received a "call-down" from some one in Brooklyn the last time James Roosevelt, son of the President, appeared because the announcer designated him as "Honorable" James Roosevelt, WJSV tonight was very careful to list him on the program as "Mr." Roosevelt. He will speak at 7:45 o'clock on "The Young Man's Responsibility."

Tom Corwine, radio animal imitator, at one time held a clerk job in his brother's store; that is until a woman customer asked for a chicken. When Tom heard his brother say that he was "fresh out" of fowl, he stole into the back room and began cackling. The customer left in a huff and Tom followed shortly afterward.

The final rounds of the United States Open Golf Tournament will be described over WJSV at noon today. The broadcast will be heard direct from the links of the North Shore Country Club, at Glenview, Ill., just outside of Chicago.

There will be a summary over WMAL at 1:30 o'clock and at 5:15 o'clock, from the same station, a description of the finish at the eighteenth hole.

More than 2,000 college men, participating in the twenty-third annual interfraternity sing at Chicago University, will be heard over WMAL, at 8:30 p. m.

THE annual baseball game between Democratic and Republican members of Congress will be described over WJSV, at 2:45 p. m. There will be music by the Marine Band.

Music by a massed band of more than 4,000 pieces, played as the final event in the Seventh Annual National High School Band Contest, will be broadcast from Dyche Stadium, in Evanston, Ill., at 4:15 p. m., over WMAL. Sixty or more bands, entered from all parts of the United States, will be represented. Lieut. Charles J. Benter, of the Navy Band, will be one of the judges.

The running of the Belmont Stakes, one of America's outstanding turf events, will be described from Belmont Park at 3:30 p. m. over WRC.

THAT John de Jara Almonte, N. B. C.'s night manager in New York, was a natural born diplomat we always knew, but we'd never have guessed that he was formerly a newspaper man. Fact is Almonte once applied for a job as a reporter on the old New York Daily News . . . in top hat, gray-striped trousers and frock coat . . . and got the job!

Almonte, English-born, didn't know then that reporters wore clothes entirely different from his embassy wardrobe. He created so much stir with his garb that the city editor advised him to show up for work on Monday without his "duke's costume."

Almonte worked for the Daily News, the old Globe and the Morning World as reporter.

Attorney General Cummings will be heard during the Columbia Institute of Public Affairs over WJSV at 10:15 p. m.

"Pinafore," the famous Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, will be presented from New York tonight at 8 o'clock over WMAL.

Bar X Days and Nights, recreating the days of the old West, will be heard on Saturday nights at 8:45 p. m., beginning tonight, instead of in the Monday evening spot it has occupied for the past several weeks.

"GEMINI."

IF JUNE 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:55 a. m. to 11:15 a. m., from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 7:45 p. m. to 8:50 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3:20 p. m.

The child born on this June 10 will in all probability follow along the route traveled by the average child. You will derive a normal amount of pleasure from him. He will give you few occasions to boast about his accomplishments and attainments, and fewer occasions on which to apologize and feel embarrassed on his account.

If June 10 is the date of your birth you must be careful not to be too critical nor to be too fault finding. Particularly is this true in regard to your attitude toward your family and close friends. You expect too much of those with whom you come in contact. You are too much of an idealist to be completely happy in this life. Rubbing elbows with the masses is somewhat of a struggle for you and watching them at work and at play brings you many a heartache.

Born on June 10, you have an interest in people, particularly in children. You seek to prepare yourself to guide others, either as an educator or as a clergyman. You should succeed in this, for you can gain the confidence and respect of others. The proper mate will do much to enhance your position in life and will bring to you qualities which you lack and which you need to reach the highest fields of success.

Successful people born on June 10:
James Barbour, statesman.
Robert T. Conrad, lawyer and author.
John Jacob Astor 3d, capitalist.

Pretty Clarksburg Woman Is Jailed

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 9.—Sobbing, Miss Glenna Nutter, 23, a pretty young woman residing at Norwood, a suburb, was led to the Harrison County Jail today to serve a sentence of one year for involuntary manslaughter in connection with a fatal motor mishap.

The young woman was convicted at the March term of the court for causing the death of Antonio Spleen, 26, a Summit Park tin-plate worker. A suspension was allowed for an appeal of the case, but she failed to carry it on.

Today she was resentenced at the Harrison County Criminal Court by Judge Arlos J. Harbert, who imposed a fine of $25 and costs, in addition. Testimony at the trial showed that the young woman was driving her car without an operator's license. This, the State contended, proved criminal negligence.

Thousands Celebrate Festival.

Portland, Oreg., June 9 (A.P.).—Thousands of merrymakers celebrated the 1933 annual rose festival here today. Large crowds came from surrounding cities to attend the silver jubilee of Portland's flower show and to attend the court functions of the mythical Kingdom of Rosaria, over which Queen Jean reigns.

Stocks Again Driven Higher Under Upswing of Favorites

Early Selling Off Overcome by Rally on Sale of 5,312,580 Shares.

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Strong grain markets and a lively rise for cotton roused stocks from hot weather lethargy today, giving a substanital flip to selective favorites and a generally firm closing to the entire list.

Shares sold off in the morning, but promptly turned dull on the reaction and around midsession the tape idled. Strength of wheat and oats, reflecting reported deterioration in the latter due to severe heat, sent buyers scurrying for "farm belt" shares, particularly the equipment issues. Case scrambled up 9 points and International Harvester 3¼. Sears-Roebuck rallied more than 2.

Tobaccos had a strong market, American Tobacco "B," Liggett & Myers "B," Lorillard and Reynolds firming 1 to 3 at the best. Rails again inclined to loiter, though Union Pacific was up a point net. American Telephone's 2-point rise stood out among utilities. Western Union and Postal preferred sobered down noticeably in view of the spiking of merger prospects through elimination of the amendment to the railroad bill permitting wire company consolidations.

Many of the leading industrial favorites were rather indifferent. United States Steel advanced a major fraction, but Westinghouse, Bethlehem, General Electric, Chrysler, General Motors Du Pont and American Can were little changed for the day. Oils improved, but metal stocks met profit taking. Industrial Rayon, whose directors boosted the annual dividend basis to $3 from $2 because of improved business, lifted 1¼ to a new high. Sales totaled 5,312,580 shares.

Progress of Congress toward adjournment and prospects of a compromise on veterans' compensation allowances were among the day's developments at Washington that attracted Wall street attention. Sidelights on business gave additional evidence of trade stimulation which has now extended beyond the period of seasonal expectancy. Commercial and industrial activity, said Dun & Bradstreet's weekly review, is "apparently immune to any potential adverse turn in the trend of political or economic adjustments."

A feature of the day's stock trading was transfer of an 85,000-share block of Commonwealth & Southern at 5, up ⅛. This was the largest single transaction since March 14, when 150,000 shares of Kreuger & Toll changed hands in one lump.

Stocks.

Early selling off was overcome and favorite issues again forced stocks to new high levels. Sales dropped to 5,312,580 shares. The average gain was 1.2 points.

Bonds.

Weakness of specialties was blamed as bonds continued to react. The decline averaged three-tenths of a point. Sales fell off to $15,184,000.

Curb.

Heavy profit-taking was weathered and many losses erased or reduced. Sizable gains then ensued and the market closed firmer. Sales declined to 1,200,000 shares.

Wheat.

Oats led wheat into higher ground. Late flurried buying halted sagging tendencies and started the upturn. All grains closed strong. July wheat sold at 75¼ to 75⅝ cents.

Cotton.

Narrow fields were deserted and cotton renewed its climb. The general market advanced 15 to 18 points. July sold at 9.16. Liverpool was closed for a holiday.

BONDS CONTINUE SAG IN SPITE OF RALLIES

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Influenced, apparently, by the weakness of various specialties, the bond market suffered another moderate relapse today despite a last-minute rally which enabled some of the principal losers to retrieve portions of their declines.

Trading turned quite dull as prices sagged and sales totaled only $15,184,000, par value, compared with $20,568,000 yesterday. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans was off three-tenths of a point, the sharpest drop in about two months.

Communications company issues were the heaviest of the day.

United States Government securities were dull but fairly firm.

$604,408,985 Gold Money Is Still in U. S. Circulation

(Associated Press.)

Despite the Government's threat to prosecute persons holding more than $100 of gold or gold certificates, the amount still in circulation on May 31 was $604,408,985.

This was made known yesterday by the Treasury's monthly circulation statement a few hours after the Department of Justice had turned over to its criminal division for possible prosecution the names of 37 persons who hold $283,064 of the metal.

The Treasury also announced Thursday night that its first offering of securities since the gold payment clause was officially canceled had been oversubscribed five times, indicating confidence in the Government.

Since March 8, the circulation statement showed approximately $800,000,000 of gold had been returned to the Treasury and banks.

There was in circulation on May 31, $324,395,786 of gold coin and bullion and $280,013,199 of gold certificates. The amount of gold decreased $10,500,000 in a month and the certificates $43,000,000.

A drop of $190,588,822 in the amount of money in circulation in the month was reported, leaving the total $5,812,884,337. At the end of the month money in the United States totaled $10,173,321,498, a drop of $199,000,000 in the month.

CURB MARKET WINS OVER PROFIT TAKING

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—The curb market was again forced to absorb heavy profit-taking today, but a late upswing was of sufficient proportions to erase or reduce early losses of fractions to 3 points and establish net advances in numerous issues.

Volume approximated 1,200,000 shares against 1,446,000 yesterday.

Utilities traded rather narrowly. Electric Bond & Share and American Superpower improved sizeable fractions.

A carload of Oklahoma wheat, which also arrived today, sold for 76½ cents a bushel. It was No. 1 hard, testing 60.5 pounds to the bushel, and had a protein content of 12.55. It was shipped from Byron, Okla.

WHEAT VALUES RISE UNDER LEAD OF OATS

Late Flurried Buying Aids Upturn; Other Grains Close Strong.

Chicago, June 9 (A.P.).—Oats prices went skyrocketing today, and outdid all top records since December, 1931.

Wheat and other grains shot higher with oats, wheat equaling this season's best previous figures. Illinois, Iowa and other big growers of oats reported sensationally severe crop damage from recent abnormal temperatures. In addition, there was a return of intense heat today Southwest, threatening further widespread havoc to farm products.

All grains closed strong, wheat and oats both 1⅜ to 2⅛ above yesterday's finish; corn 1¾ to 2 cents up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Late flurried buying, especially of wheat and oats, came after wheat had shown a pronounced trend toward lower prices early. This was attributed to trade talk that the Government June crop due after the close of business would make a bearish exhibit and would not allow for recent damage by unusual heat. A sudden bulge in oats values, however, alarmed traders in other grains, and a general soaring of prices followed, with the close in every case practically the highest point reached.

Effect of Forecasts.

Particular uneasiness resulted from the fact that forecasts indicated no moisture relief in sight to alleviate the effects of the new heat wave. Crop damage reports regarding oats were backed by a flood of purchase orders from rural sources.

Not only was the oats crop said to be heading on short straw, but with prospects in other respects the poorest in years. These conditions were represented as prevailing in Missouri, Kansas and Indiana as well as Iowa and Illinois.

Veteran traders could recall few parallels to today's market action with oats swaying the course of wheat and corn, instead of being a lowly follower of corn.

Provisions advanced with grains.

COTTON PRICES RISE ON CROP CURB HOPE

July Sells at 9.16 With General Market Up 15 to 18 Points.

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Cotton emerged from its narrow range today and worked up nearly $1.50 a bale, but gave up some of the gain in the late trading.

Washington advices, which were regarded as emphasizing the prospects of acreage control measures applying to this season's crop, were the principal factor in the spurt. October contracts, after selling off to 9.15 early, rallied to 9.52, or 27 points net higher, and closed at 9.42, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 15 to 18 points.

Initial prices were off 7 to 18 points lower on further liquidation, particularly in the near months, and scattered selling, which was again supposed to include some hedging against the so-called Red Cross cotton.

Strength in Afternoon.

The market developed strength during the afternoon on the Washington reports and the strength in other markets. Both trade and commission house interests were buyers on the advance, which carried July from the early low of 8.88 to 9.25, and December from 9.31 to 9.68, making net advances of 24 to 32 points on the general list.

Closing quototion were some 9 or 10 points off from the best under realizing.

Reports that an amendment would be offered to the industrial recovery bill providing that $200,000,000 be made available to the Secretary of Agriculture for use in the administration of the parity provisions of the farm relief act appeared to start the afternoon buying and there were reports later that a cotton processing tax of 3 cents a pound was being considered by the Secretary of Agriculture to raise funds for removing cotton acreage from cultivation.

The week-end figures, showing heavy forwardings of American cotton to mills, also attracted some comment and may have promoted some of the later buying, but the expectation of definite statements from Washington with reference to the acreage curtailment question following action on the industrial recovery bill, was generally referred to as a chief factor on the advance.

It was a holiday in Liverpool and the market there will remain closed until Monday. Exports today 25,610 making 7,403,959 so far this season. Port receipts 21,785. U. S. port stocks 3,790,324.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil was firmer today on increased covering and scattered buying, promoted by the firmness of lard, the sharp advance in cotton and strong grain markets. Final prices were 7 to 15 points net higher. Sales, 30 contracts. Bleachable spot closed, 5.40; July, 5.44; September, 5.55; December, 5.74; January, 5.79.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange was quietly irregular. Early strength was registered in transatlantic issues and gilt-edged securities, but best prices were not maintained. German bonds were weak on latest moratorium developments while other sections moved irregularly. The market closed dull.

Paris—Surprised by the moratorium declaration by Germany, which included interest on the Young and Dawes loans, prices on the bourse lost part of yesterday's advance in a rather hesitant market. The approaching world economic conference made speculators cautious. The closing was heavy.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse were unsettled today, but the closing was sustained.

INDUSTRIAL RAYON'S DIVIDEND IS BOOSTED

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Industrial Rayon Co. today increased its annual dividend basis to $3 from $2 by declaring a quarterly payment of 75 cents a share against 50 cents previously paid.

The company said the upward trend in its business in the first three months of this year had been "more than maintained during the second quarter." The dividend is payable July 1 to holdings of record June 19.

The May railroad earnings, soon to appear, should show numerous increases in gross over a year ago, according to statisticians who have been following the favorable trend of car loadings. The best relative improvement in traffic last month was in the South and Southwest.

Exports of Grain Up 82,000 Bushels

(Associated Press.)

Grain exports last week from the United States amounted to 179,000 bushels compared with 97,000 the previous week and 1,568,000 the corresponding week of last year.

Commerce Department figures yesterday gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those for the week before: Wheat, 5,000 bushels against none; barley, 54,000 against 25,000; corn, 112,000 against 41,000; oats, 8,000 against 29,000; rye, none against 2,-000.

New York Selling Cuts Dollar Prices

London, June 9 (A.P.).—Speculators again were operating on the exchange market today, causing irregular fluctuations, especially in the American dollar.

Early selling caused the dollar rate to depreciate to $4.11 to the pound, compared with yesterday's banking close of $4.10⅛. Covering orders gradually moved the rate of $4.08½, but renewed offerings weakened the dollar value, and the close was $4.09¼.

The market still was puzzled at the reason for the selling, which comes mostly from New York sources.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Sales of the Grand Union Co. in the five weeks ended June 3 totaled $2,614,112, a decrease of 10.2 per cent from May, 1932.

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. reports that its May orders for refrigerators were the largest in the company's history. Approximately 400 more workers are now on the pay roll of the Mansfield (Ohio) plant, which has a refrigerator division, than were maintained during the war-time employment peak in 1918, the announcement said.

New bond offerings scheduled for next week by 33 States and municipalities total $28,033,358, the largest volume of the year, says Daily Bond Buyer. The biggest item is a $10,-000,000 issue of State of Tennessee funding bonds, to be offered on Thursday.

Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. estimates sales for the four weeks ended May 27 at $61,524,707 compared with $72,447,440 for the same period last year, a decrease of 15 per cent. Tonnage sales were estimated at 397,498 against 437,775 in the like 1932 period. Estimated sales for the thirteen weeks ended May 27 were $197,561,675 against $233,739,385.

GOODMAN'S SENSATIONAL 66 GAINS LEAD IN OPEN

Whitehill Eases Up in 9th, But Beats Red Sox for Nats, 7-2

This Morning with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

BOSTON, Mass., June 9.—Walter Johnson, beloved Barney to his intimates, bounces back into the big league company as manager of the Cleveland Indians, and the guy who wouldn't wish him luck is the guy who would send his mother's day telegram collect.

"That's swell," said Joe Cronin, when apprised of the news in the Nats' Boston hotel today. "It's a great spot for Walter, out there with all those pitchers the Indians have. They were tough enough from a pitching standpoint any way, but with Johnson out there to handle that staff of Ferrell, Harder, Brown, Hildebrand and Hudlin, and work them in the order they should be worked, he'll put an end to that slump."

Walter in Tough Spot.

It may be a great spot for Walter, as Cronin says, but it may be a tough spot, too. Roger Peckinpaugh found the Cleveland job no bed of roses and there are several characters on the Indians' roster whom Johnson may not find to his liking.

Peckinpaugh was never able to get the best out of Wesley Ferrell, the No. 1 prima donna on the Cleveland team. Eddie Morgan is the lackadaisical sort who may not appeal to Big Barney. Earl Averill is a great ball player, but it remains to be seen how Johnson will handle him. They were among Peckinpaugh's trials.

Not An Admirer Of Morgan.

When he was pilot of the Nats, Johnson held very little respect for Morgan's first basing ability and his first move in the build-up of the Indians may be in that direction. At present he has Morgan and the clever fielding Harley Boss to choose from, but Boss' antics were the chief cause of his release by the Nats. With Chattanooga last year, he was not the most dependable.

The Cleveland Club under Peckinpaugh boasted more than its share of temperament, and the addition of Roy Spencer this season has heightened the situation. One of the motivating factors in the Nats' Spencer-Sewell trade during the year was Spencer's friction with Johnson, and it remains to be seen if the situation between the two will be improved now that they are together on a different club.

Peck Was Given 5 Years.

The Cleveland front office gave Peckinpaugh five years to make good and exhibited a great deal of patience in view of the annual slumps of the Indians in June, which occurred as regularly each season as opening day.

Until this season there was very little, if any, interference with Peckinpaugh by General Manager Billy Evans and the front office, which exhibited great alacrity in ministering to Peck's needs in the form of cash outlays for talent, so it can not be construed that the Cleveland business management is of the meddlesome sort.

Johnson could have chosen no better spot in the league from that standpoint, perhaps. The Cleveland Club, backed by the railroad millions of Alva Bradley and the Van Sweringens, is in a position to lend Johnson unlimited aid in any build-up he attempts.

Johnson Has Future In Hands.

Johnson's future with the Injuns is strictly up to Johnson. That the baseball world will be pulling for him, Washington particularly, is patent. That he may not desire to continue with the same roster is probable. Baseball awaits his first move.

Johnson's capabilities as a handler of men was the most serious question raised during his tenure as pilot of the Nats. Cleveland, with its Ferrell, Morgan, Averill, Boss and Spencer, will be the test. Here's luck, Walter.

Pipgras Pounded Out in Sixth After Erratic Day.

Washington Amasses Early Lead, Scoring Three in First.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

FENWAY PARK, Boston, Mass., June 9.—Coming out of their corner swinging at the opening ball, the Nats won the decision over the Red Sox this ladies' day afternoon by a 7-to-2 vote of the official scorers.

They started crowding Gawge Pipgras in round one, piling up a 3-run lead that would have enabled them to coast home to the decision, but they kept on punching until they floored Pipgras in the sixth and then outpointed his successor, Bob Weiland, in the eighth.

The recapitulation shows the Nats scoring heavily in three rounds, with the Red Sox winning only one, the ninth. Five were scoreless and even.

Earl Whitehill's defense of his lead was superb today. He had a four-hit game and a shutout in his possession until the ninth when, in a dying gasp, the Red Sox punched out three hits for their only two runs of the bout. But Whitehill was just breezing along.

Whitehill Is Master In Pinches.

The Sox were more or less bewildered by Whitehill's southpaw shoots. Manager Marty McManus had eight right-handed hitters in there against the Washington southpaw, but rarely were they able to land cleanly. In the clinches Whitehill was the master, despite three errors by his mates in the field.

Only once did Whitehill falter. That was in the ninth when he led with a left hook in the vicinity of Bill Werber's midriff. Three Bostonians were on base at the time and two scored when the former Washington sandlotter punched a clean single through the box out into center field. But Whitehill used his left effectively to quench further disturbance.

Joe Cronin slugged the Red Sox into defeat almost single handedly. He smacked Pipgras for a double and two singles, that drove in two runs, and he scored two himself. Pipgras could not get him out, but Weiland made him miss in his last two turns at the plate.

Pipgras Is Wild In First.

Pipgras was shy of control in the first inning and walked Heinie Manush. He disposed of Goslin for the second out, but he could not get by Cronin, who reached him for a long double to left against the fence, to score Manush. Thus, learning that Pipgras could be hit, Schulte rammed home a double to right, scoring Cronin. Kuhel jabbed a single to left to bring in the third run of the inning.

Despite two errors by Bill Werber in the second round, the Nats were held even by the scoreless Sox, but in the fifth Manush again paved the way for some more scoring. He smacked Pipgras for a double to center by dint of a great sprint, and trusty Joe Cronin scored him with a one-base blow to right. Cronin feinted Pipgras into a long wind-up and then stole second, whence he trotted home on Schulte's whistling smack through short.

Bluege's Walk Starts Eighth.

Weiland made the error of walking Bluege with two out in the eighth and then was betrayed by his mates in the field. Roy Johnson's feet were just before he stepped aboard the train for Cleveland last night, where he will take over the management of the Indians.

Walter Johnson Appointed Manager of Cleveland Club

Former Pitching King Succeeds Peck in Surprise Move; New Pilot to Have Full Charge; News Welcomed Here.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WALTER JOHNSON, the Old Master, is back in baseball again. He was named yesterday as manager of the Cleveland Indians and left last night for the Forest City, where tomorrow he will pick up the reins begrudgingly laid down by Roger Peckinpaugh, also a former National. The announcement came as a surprise not only to Washington fans, but to Johnson himself. The latter had been dickering with general manager Billy Evans, but had no idea that the matter would come to a head as soon as it did. The decision to turn over the berth to Johnson immediately was made at a special meeting of the club directors Thursday night.

"I did not have any idea that I was being considered by the Cleveland Club until Wednesday," said Johnson, "when General Manager Billy Evans called me on long-distance telephone and asked me if I would be interested. They were more or less dissatisfied with the way things were going and asked me if I wanted the job in case they decided to make a change. Naturally, I told them yes, but not at the expense of Peckinpaugh, whom I consider as one of my best friends. When they told me yesterday that Peck was out and that, if I didn't take the job, some one else would be signed, I grabbed it.

Johnson Sees His Big Chance.

"I think it is a great chance for me," Johnson continued. "The Cleveland club is a great outfit to work for. It has given me full charge and I am going to do my durndest to deliver. I haven't seen a baseball game this year and so haven't seen the Cleveland club. It has good pitchers, though, and if some of its hitters, who seem to be slumping now, suddenly come to form, I am confident that the Indians will get somewhere in the race yet."

Johnson's appointment, understood to be for the remainder of this season and for all of 1934, seems to be generally popular. Cleveland fans were disappointed in the showing of their team under Peck and probably will welcome Johnson with open arms. In Washington, the interest is more personal, while fans throughout the circuit probably are of the opinion that baseball owes Walter a living, in view of his record in it, both on and off the field, which dates back to August 2, 1907, and the Cleveland club hopes to cash in on Johnson's past reputation and popularity, to say nothing of the fact that it regards him as a good manager.

Managed Here for Four Years.

This will be Johnson's third managerial fling. President Clark Griffith gave him his unconditional release so that he could pilot the Newark Internationals in 1928, but he was taken ill before the season started and did not get back into action until the schedule was more than half completed.

President Griffith decided to let out Stanley (Bucky) Harris as Nat leader at the end of 1928 and Johnson was signed to a three-year contract, being given a one-year one last

Baer to Tour Nation With Dempsey

Series of Exhibitions Starts at Buffalo Next Friday.

Sharkey or Carnera May Be Matched in September.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, June 9 (A.P.).—Firmly perched in the driver's seat, as complete a monarch of fistiana for the time being as Tex Rickard ever was, Jack Dempsey boldly set out today to capitalize on the popularity suddenly come to Max Baer through his spectacular knockout of Max Schmeling.

With only one major promotional venture behind him, and that both an artistic and financial success, Dempsey immediately planned a triumphal tour for the giant destroyer from California, set to work on a match between Baer and either Jack Sharkey or Primo Carnera here in the fall, and rolled over in his mind additional bouts in Miami Beach, Fla., in February, and California next year.

Reactions from Baer's amazing conquest of the former heavyweight champion in nine and a fraction rounds in the Yankee Stadium last night poured in on both Dempsey and his protege today. The big, curly-headed dynamiter, who all but crushed Schmeling with his terrific right hand smashes to the head, put himself entirely in Dempsey's keeping.

"I'll Fight for Jack," He Declares.

"He's my pal," he grinned as he spent a busy day squiring June Knight, musical comedy star, around town through admiring crowds that greeted them everywhere. "I'll fight for Jack any time, anywhere. He just has to say when."

So Dempsey started arrangements for a tour, with Baer boxing exhibitions and himself refereeing, that will take them to Buffalo next Friday night, and from there across the country through Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, Seattle, Portland, Oreg., San Francisco and Los Angeles. Then

Yankees Win In Battle of Home Runs

Lazzeri's Blow Sends Macks Down to 7-6 Defeat.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees outdid the Athletics in today's section of the home run derby and won a 7 to 6 decision under a sweltering sun.

Tony Lazzeri's tenth four-base belt of the season was the deciding blow of the game after Lou Gehrig and Jimmie Foxx had clouted a homer apiece to tie Babe Ruth for the major league lead. Tony came up after Ruth and Ben Chapman had drawn passes in the eighth inning and parked one of Rube Walberg's pitches on top of the left field pavillion to provide the winning margin. The A's got back two runs in their half of the eighth, but a double play stopped them short of a tie.

Gehrig walloped homer No. 12 with two aboard in the first inning to send the Yanks off ahead and Foxx hit his twelfth of the season and fourth in two days with Ed Coleman on base in the seventh to tie the score.

The terrific heat forced both the starting pitchers out of action. Jim Peterson, of the A's, lasted only long enough to walk the first man with four wide pitches while big Walter

NORTH SHORE GOLF CLUB, Glenview, Ill., June 9 (A.P.). Johnny Goodman, 23-year-old amateur star and "giant killer" from Omaha, Nebr., skyrocketed into the lead for the United States open golf championship in the gathering dusk today with a dazzling record smashing 66, 6 under par.

The youth, who has been banging at the hall of golfing fame ever since he eliminated Bobby Jones from the national amateur championship four years ago, achieved the seemingly impossible by spotting Tommy Armour 7 strokes and then taking the lead away from the famous "Black Scot" by a two-stroke margin for the first 36 holes of the tournament.

Goodman rushed to the front at the halfway mark with 75—66—141, overhauling Armour's 68—75—143, which had barely withstood the day's previous attacks, and leaving an all-star field staggering in the wake of the slim, spectacular amateur.

Kirkwood Adds 70 Round.

Joe Kirkwood, of Coral Gables, Fla., adding a subpar 70 to his 74 for a total of 144, occupied third place; Olin Dutra, of Los Angeles, the P. G. A. champion, was fourth, with 75—71—146, and the defending champion, Gene Sarazen, of New York, was a full 10 strokes back of Goodman with two erratic rounds, 74—77—151.

No amateur since the reign of Jones—a spectator today—has given the professionals as sound a drubbing as Goodman administered to them with the greatest round of his meteoric career. Whether or not Johnny can keep up his electrifying pace over the final 36-hole stretch tomorrow, he was king for the time being, with a round of golf that has had only one equal and no superiors in the 37-year history of the open championship.

The 66 tied the previous tournament low mark, made by Sarazen last year on his last round. It clipped 2 strokes off the North Shore Course record, set by Armour yesterday. It was featured by as marvelous

EDELWEISS IS EASY VICTOR IN $12,500 RACE AT BELMONT

Wheatley Ace 3 Lengths In Front

Barn Swallow Is 2d, With Welcome Gift Far Behind.

BELMONT PARK RACE TRACK, New York, June 9 (A.P.).—Edelweiss, carrying the Wheatley Stable silks of Mrs. H. C. Phipps and her brother, Ogden Mills, ran the greatest race of her career here today to register an easy victory over E. R. Bradley's Kentucky Oaks winner, Barn Swallow, in the seventeenth running of the Coaching Club American Oaks.

A crowd of about 6,000, tolerating oppressive heat, saw the daughter of Chicle—Helvetia, win by 3 lengths to capture the $12,550 prize and a $200 trophy. Mrs. Phipps received the silver piece and proudly led the winner back, while the spectators applauded.

Third money went to Welcome Gift, representing the Greentree Stable of Mrs. Payne Whitney. But it was a two-horse affair, Welcome Gift being 10 lengths behind Barn Swallow. It seemed that only the first two horses were able to negotiate the trying mile and three furlongs journey.

Edelweiss finished her journey in 2:20 3-5. The record of 2:14 1-5 is held by the immortal Man o' War.

The Wheatley entry of Edelweiss and Iseult was favorite at even money. Barn Swallow closed at 6 to 5, with the Greentree pair of Welcome Gift and Easy Day, quoted at 10 to 1.

Iseult went out and set the pace for her stablemate. Barn Swallow and Welcome Gift were the closest pursuers, with the Bradley miss under stout restraint. After leaving the back stretch Don Meade, back in the saddle following his Kentucky Derby suspension, sent the Black Servant filly into command, and it seemed the race was as good as over until Edelweiss began her winning charge. She collared Barn Swallow as the latter was put to a drive straightening out in the stretch and went on to win with Kansas Johnny Gilbert sitting still. Welcome Gift barely lasted to head Easy Day for the show, while Iseult was eased up when thoroughly beaten.

ARMY NETMEN WIN.

Army swept its match with Navy in the Inter-Departmental League yesterday, winning by a score of 5-0. Dorst and Newgarden's triumph over Wilkerson in the No. 1 match, accomplished after three torrid sets, featured the victory. It was the second consecutive triumph for the Army netmen.

Dorst and Newgarden defeated Wilkerson and Worthington, 6—2, 4—6, 9—7; Thomas and Stauffer defeated Scott and McClus, 6—0, 6—2; Crane and Quesada defeated Lewis and Bates, 6—2, 4—6, 7—5; Godrey and Daniels defeated Davis and Yeomans, 6—1, 4—6, 6—4; Martin and Davis defeated Kahn and Taylor, 6—1, 7—5.

DEAR AL: WASHINGTON PARK, JUNE 9.

The "daily double" fever which has taken tracks in this section by storm, will break the last barrier next month when Arlington Park opens. Heretofore, that track has shunned the combination bet, but will put it in operation this year. Unlike the wager at other courses hereabouts, where individual horses must be named, entries will be included in the play at Arlington. Well, friend, I was held to a pair of winners today—Song Hit in the first and Tryandagain in the last at a $14.10 mutuel. BILL.

FIRST RACE—KNOWLTON seems the best placed of these 3-year-olds and would not surprise me if he steps down at a fair price. PRINTEMPS gets in with light weight and ran a promising race the last time. ESSENTIAL to take care of the others.

SECOND RACE—KING FARO moves up a couple of notches in this test, but carries only a steadying impost, and may be better than rated. Looks like CHERRY TIME and HOME RULE are the ones to beat.

THIRD RACE—ESKIMO has a dash of class and comes to this sprint after several good moves. No standout, but worth giving a chance in this sort of company. BLACK COMET turned in a formidable effort in taking that last and will be dangerous. BARASKOVA is another fit and ready.

FOURTH RACE—TECHNOCRACY'S race behind Miss Patience indicates that this one is ready for a set of brackets. FULL TILT and SECRET TRYST appear to have an edge on the others.

FIFTH RACE—MOMO is a pretty alive horse at present and although meeting stiffer company would not be a surprise winner here. BRIGHT KNOT will draw most of the play and will deserve strong backing. PORTCODINE is a sleeper.

SIXTH RACE—The Labrot Stable holds a strong hand in the feature. Either TRED AVON or SPRINGSTEEL can take this, I believe. The mare gets only a moderate impost of 117 while SPRINGSTEEL gets in light with 107. POLYDOROUS for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—THROUGH OMOND probably will draw Jockey Westrope again tomorrow and the combination will be hard to beat. THE SPANIARD and HAPPY LAD for the other money positions.

EIGHTH RACE—HARAMZADA to snap out of it and take this purse. SCARLET BRIGADE and FOXLAND HALL for the place battle.

$54,000 Race At Belmont Today

10 Horses, Including The Darb, Entered in 67th Running.

NEW YORK, June 9 (A.P.).—Ten 3-year-old colts, including C. V. Whitney's The Darb, winner of the Withers Mile, today were named for the sixty-seventh running of Belmont Stakes over 1½-miles at Belmont Park tomorrow.

If all ten of the overnight nominees face the barrier at about 3:30 p. m. (E. S. T.), the stake will gross approximately $68,000 and will be the richest 3-year-old race of the year. Of that amount, the winner will receive about $54,000, nearly $6,000 more than Broker's Tip collected for winning the Kentucky Derby.

The Darb, winner of the Withers over a slow track, is expected to be the choice; but over a fast track, such as the weather man has promised for tomorrow, the son of St. Germans may find a real argument. W. S. Kilmer's Dark Winter, a fast closing third in the Withers, and the Wheatley Stable's Utopian, third in the Preakness, shape up as contenders.

The remainder of the entries are Sun Apollo, which will run coupled in the betting with Dark Winter, M. L. Schwartz's Union, J. E. Widener's Hurryoff, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Dynastic, James F. Johnson's Repaid, Marshall Field's Nimbus and W. R. Coe's Pompoleon.

DEMPSEY TO TAKE BAER ON U. S. TOUR

they will return here to see Jack Sharkey defend his heavyweight title against Primo Carnera for Madison Square Garden June 29.

Dempsey wants the winner of that match for a September battle with Baer, but there are slight complications. Sharkey has not contracted with further fights for the Garden, thus leaving him eligible to jump under the Dempsey banner if he retains his title. But Carnera has given the Garden a year's option on his services if he becomes champion.

Official figures showed today that 51,000 paid admissions to the stadium with receipts $243,000, including taxes. Schmeling received about $75,000 for his services, Baer $25,000. Dempsey's profit, after all reductions, was estimated at about $20,000.

Although a couple of attachments were filed against Baer's pay check, one in a suit for $15,000 and another for $21,436.46, they came too late, as the Californian had collected his money in advance. Baer is in the midst of a wide variety of legal difficulties, including breach of promise suits, a divorce action and contractural difficulties with various managers he hired at odd moments in his harum scarum career.

Dempsey insists, however, that Baer now is going to work seriously. He may fight Sharkey, whether the champion wins or loses against Primo Carnera, in Florida in February, while Dempsey also is considering taking a return bout with Schmeling to California.

Baltimore County Wins State Olympic Games

Baltimore, Md., June 9.—Baltimore County won the Maryland State Olympic games for the third consecutive time today at the stadium.

The next seven teams were bunched, Montgomery and Allegany Counties tied with 31 apiece, then following Baltimore City, 30; Washington, 29; Harford, 28; Anne Arundel, 27, and Prince Georges, 26.

Lead in Open Gained by Goodman

an exhibition around the greens as any championship has ever witnessed.

Johnny was out in 32, a new record for the first half of the long, rugged layout, and back in 34, cheered on every step of the way by a galloping gallery of 3,500 spectators that went wild over the Nebraskan's spectacular shot making.

Starts With Four Birdies.

He had started off with four birdies on the first five holes, but the pressure of the crowd and the job of overhauling the game's most noted professionals rolled off the Nebraskan's back with easy nonchalance. For climax thrills he holed out from 25 yards off the fifteenth green with an eagle 3 and came within 3 feet of holing a full No. 5 iron shot on the eighteenth, clinching his fifth birdie.

All day long the big field, which by nightfall was cut from 145 to 67 survivors for the final day's battle, hacked away at Armour's first-round lead of 5 strokes. One by one they like Tommy, failed to seize the opportunities offered by almost perfect playing conditions, Kirkwood and Olin Dutra, alone of the favorites closing a good share of the gap.

By contrast with yesterday's windy struggle, when Tommy's record 68 was the only par-cracking count, there were ten scores that equaled or surpassed par today, but most of them were registered by players who, like Leo Diegel, adding a 71 to a 78, were already too far back to regain contending positions.

Before Goodman took complete command of this disorganized pursuit, Walter Hagen had slipped to a 76 for a total of 149; Neil White, the 21-year-old Kansan from the University of Southern California, a one-day sensation, had blown himself out of the running with an 80 for an aggregate of 153, and the Ryder Cup stars, including Horton Smith, Paul Runyan, Densmore Shute and Ed Dudley, were in almost complete rout.

Then the "giant killer" went to work. Johnny has been competing in the National Open for only four years but he has been steadily making his presence felt. He was low amateur last year at Fresh Meadow, finishing with a 68 for a total of 302. He first rocked the golf world by beating Jones in the first round at Pebble Beach in 1929. He was runner-up for the amateur title last year at Five Farms, beating a flock of Walker Cup stars, including Capt. Francis Ouimet, in the process of protesting the neglect in not naming him for the American international team.

Sinks 25-Foot Putt For Birdie.

There were a half dozen spectators on hand when Goodman coolly sank a 25-foot putt for a birdie on the first hole this afternoon. Not more than a score watched him as he bagged two more birdies in a row, being home in two belts on the 489-yard second and pitching within five feet of the third cup. By this time word began to filter around and there were perhaps 50 who saw Johnny come out of a trap and hole an 8-footer on the fifth for his fourth birdie.

When he reached the turn in 32, aided by a 35-foot putt for his par after being trapped on the short eighth, Goodman suddenly became the magnet for a rushing, swirling mob. He gave them a thrill promptly by sinking a 20-foot putt on the tenth green to save his par but then three-putted the eleventh for the only time he was over par all day.

Three successive pars, all marked by great driving and cool control around the greens, paved the way for Johnny's next and biggest display of fireworks. He was 25 yards short of the 511-yard fifteenth when he took out his niblick and sent the ball scurrying to the green. It rolled softly to the pin, nestling against the pole, and dropped in for an eagle three as the referee pulled the stick out. Another par and then the eighteenth, where Johnny's drive was barely in the rough for the first time. He belted a No. 5 high and straight. For a moment it seemed certain to hit the flag but dropped 3 feet away, for a final birdie.

Has Only 26 Putts For Round.

Goodman, who used only 26 putts for his entire round—14 on the first nine and 12 on the last—furnished a contrast to Armour's erratic work around the greens.

There were only seven players within a seven-stroke hailing distance of Goodman, including Armour, Kirkwood, Olin Dutra, then Ralph Guldahl, of St. Louis, and Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J., each with 147, and Mortie Dutro, of Detroit, and Phil Perkins, of Cleveland, each at 148. The group at 149 comprised Runyan, Hagen, Diegel, MacSmith, Abe Espinosa, Maurice McCarthy, Cleveland amateur, and Johnny Revolta, of Menominee, Mich.

Sarazen, the champion, was almost forgotten in the turmoil created by Goodman. The stocky champion, plainly off his game from the outset, had only the slimmest of outside chances to figure well up in the money, much less to win. He overcame a big deficit last year by coming from behind to win by three shots after being five strokes off the pace at 36 holes, but it would be a miracle for him to repeat under the existing circumstances.

Zaharias to Meet Londos Thurday

The Greeks have it. Have what? Have the feature spot on Promoter Joe Turner's weekly wrestling card at the ball park next Thursday night, proceeds from which will be contributed to a food fund for Washington's needy. George Zaharias, the hard-boiled lad, earned his right to a match with Jim Londos by depositing Hans Steinke, the uncrowned champion, on his left ear last Thursday night, and Zaharias and Londos will be the principals on the card next week.

On paper the bout should be a good one. About eight months ago Zaharias met Londos on the Pacific Coast in a hectic match before 20,000 fans. Zaharias won the first fall, but Londos took the last two and won the match.

Since the proceeds go for charity the free list will be suspended. Ladies will be taxed the full admission even though accompanied by paid escorts.

Tech Faculty Loses Said Ball Game

Guyon Hurls Eastern Teachers to 8-7 Triumph.

FACULTY members of Eastern and Tech High Schools had themselves a time of it yesterday at their annual baseball game, which lasted just five innings, and later at a banquet, which lasted until the chef announced that he was "fresh out of everything."

Strangely enough the game produced some fair to middling baseball. Charley Guyon, coach of Eastern's team, hurled his mates to an 8-7 triumph over the visiting Techites, employing the political strategy he has picked up while tutoring the Republican baseball team to squeeze out of tight spots.

Members of the rival team loped around the field like a bouquet of wilted lilies. The spirit was strong, but the flesh was weak, very weak.

C. Mayo Guyon was in rare form for the winners, setting the opposition down with 13 hits, one a lusty triple from the mace of Elmer (the great) Hardell. C. Mayo retired the side on strike-outs in round two, but one batter singled, another walked and he hit a third, before the last two fanned.

Long Jack Collins, third baseman; Suber, catcher, and C. Mayo, in person, led Eastern's attack, collecting 7 hits between them.

MRS. WOOTON TAKES MUNY GOLF CROWN

Winner Beats Mrs. Hill on 18th Hole

Failure to Sink Foot-Putt Costs Chance to Even Match.

Mrs. Altrock Defeats Mrs. Rule in Final of Consolations.

MRS. PEGGY WOOTON, who does most of her golfing at East Potomac Park, won the District women's municipal golf championship yesterday by defeating Mrs. Mae Hill, 1 up, in the 18-hole final of the interesting tournament that Manager Harry Graham has been staging over the hills and dales of Rock Creek Park. Or if you prefer it this way, Mrs. Hill defeated herself because it was her failure to sink a putt of less than a foot that gave her rival the margin of victory on the last hole.

Mrs. Wooton shot an 84 to Mrs. Hill's 87 and the round was replete with thrills. On the third hole of A course, Mrs. Wooton shot from a hollow and had her caddy stand in line for the pin. Mrs. Hill protested and won the hole. However, Mrs. Wooton finished the first nine 2 up.

Mrs. Hill Evens Match.

With the match shifted to Course B, Mrs. Hill took the first two holes and evened the match. They divided the next two, but Mrs. Wooton annexed two in a row to go 2 up again. On the sixteenth, Mrs. Hill laid her foe a stymie and Mrs. Wooton, attempting to sink her ball, knocked in her opponent's. The match was again evened when Mrs. Hill won the seventeenth.

On the eighteenth, both were on the green in three and both were short on approach putts. However, Mrs. Wooton sank for a 5 and Mrs. Hill's ball failed to get down.

In the final of the consolations, Mrs. Altrock defeated Mrs. Rule, 3 and 2.

WALTER'S GOOD LUCK PLEASES D. C. FANS

season. During his four-year tenure his teams finished fifth, second, third and third.

As a managerial job calls for experience, Johnson being more or less of a novice, made many mistakes his first year here, 1929, but he benefited from them and developed into a good leader, especially during 1931 and 1932. A manager can not pitch, catch or hit for his men, yet he is held responsible for how him team plays. Baseball fans want winners and a club-owner feels that it is up to him to make a change in pilots whenever there is general complaint among the cash customers. So Johnson was let out here last year and this same state of affairs in Cleveland at Peckinpaugh's expense is giving him a new start there.

There can hardly be any question as to Johnson's baseball knowledge in view of his experience as an active player and one of the game's greatest pitchers for more than two decades. And, as already stated, the Old Master's managerial experience now extends past the novice stage.

Johnson's admirers, and they number in the millions throughout the length and breadth of this great land, undoubtedly will be pulling for him. When the Nats won their first pennant in 1924, the fact that Johnson, after 17 years of service, was finally getting a chance to perform in a world's series, without a doubt made the Washington Club the people's choice. And, because of Johnson's universal popularity, his appointment is sure to boost the number of Cleveland Club rooters.

Clark Griffith, the man who fired Johnson from his last job, was most enthusiastic when advised of Walter's appointment in Cleveland. "I'm certainly glad he landed and wish him all the success in the world. Baseball needs fellows like him," said the Nat owner, adding "and I think he'll make a good manager, too. I think he got as much out of our Nationals last season as anyone else could have."

Mrs. Haynes Maryland Finalist

Capital Star to Play Mrs. Mower Today for State Title.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 9.—It will be Washington versus Baltimore tomorrow afternoon for the Maryland State women's golf crown.

A seasonable veteran of the links, Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, the Middle Atlantic champion from the Columbia Country Club, will fight it out with the defender, Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow, six times winner of the diadem who hails from the Elkridge Hunt Club.

Mrs. Haynes was obliged to battle to the last green at Five Farms today to brush aside Mrs. E. B. Mower, of Elkridge, by a 2-up margin, while Mrs. Morrow had another easy victory by defeating Miss Elizabeth Janney, Green Spring Valley Hunt Club, 5 and 3.

Sub-par golf in the home stretch gave Mrs. Haynes a chance to play for the title. She got a birdie 4 at the sixteenth to even the match, carded a par 3 at the seventeenth to become 1 up and also won the eighteenth with a birdie 4.

Mrs. Haynes' Irons Factor.

Brilliant iron shots at each hole proved the determining factor in Mrs. Haynes' triumph.

Mrs. Mower held Mrs. Haynes even through the first nine, although she had many openings for wins. Mrs. Mower went 1 up on the tenth when her opponent's second splashed in the water, but the Elkridge player faltered with a chip shot at the next hole and Mrs. Haynes won with a 5 to square matters once more.

The twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth were shared, but Mrs. Mower took the lead again at the fifteenth with a par 5 after a splendid second shot.

Mrs. Haynes covered the route in 90, while Mrs. Mower took 3 additional strokes.

Republican Nine Battles Democratic Team Today

THE Republicans and Democrats will air their differences in public today at Griffith Stadium, where baseball teams representing the two clash at 3:15 p. m. in a game for the benefit of charity. The Republicans won last year's game by a large score, but with a rooting majority the administration nine hopes to reverse the tables this time.

President Roosevelt is expected to be on hand officially to start the proceedings by throwing out the first ball. After that it will be up to the Democrats to do the best they can.

Jack Ray, coach of Central High School's baseball team, has been tutoring the Democrats and has accomplished remarkable results, according to reports filtering in from Mount Pleasant way. Charley Guyon, Eastern High School coach and a good Democrat, is again at the helm of the G. O. P. and confidently predicting a victory for his side.

A wrestling match involving Everett Marshall and George Zaharias will precede the game. The crowd will also be entertained by the antics of Nick Altrock, Washington's premier comedian. The Marine Band will provide the only bit of harmony expected.

Gene Tunney, retired undefeated world champion boxer, has agreed to umpire the bases and the American League is furnishing an arbiter to call 'em from behind the plate.

Cardinals Win, 12-2; Regain Top

St. Louis, June 9 (A.P.).—Tex Carleton pitched the St. Louis Cardinals back into first place in the National League today, defeating the Chicago Cubs, 12 to 2. It was Carleton's seventh victory of the season, against two defeats.

The Cards' victory gave them a percentage of .625, to lead the Giants, who were idle.

The Redbirds drove Pat Malone, the Cubs' strike-out pitcher, from the mound in the third, and Lyle Tinning, who succeeded him, was touched for three runs in the fifth and was taken out for a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Lynn Nelson and Roy Henshaw then each hurled an inning.

The Cards got a total of 14 hits, 8 of which were for extra bases. Frankie Frisch led the batting attack with a triple and two doubles. Pepper Martin got a single and two doubles. The Cards made four runs in the eighth on two walks, a single and errors by Henshaw and Campbell.

The victory today was the sixteenth for the Cards in the last 19 played. It was the second victory in two days over the Cubs and the seventh out of eleven games this season.

Swetonic Stars; Pirates Win, 2-0

Pittsburgh, June 9 (A.P.).—Steve Swetonic gave the Pirates one of their rare exhibitions of good pitching today and they checked their downward flight with a 2-to-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. The triumph kept Pittsburgh safe in third place.

Swetonic blanked the Reds with six hits in a struggle with Paul Derringer, who granted seven safeties. Floyd Vaughan's triple that scored Paul Waner from second base in the third inning was the deciding blow. The Bucs added another run in the seventh on a hit by Tommy Thevenow, a walk, a sacrifice and Lloyd Waner's single.

Chevy Chase Golf Crown To Lunn

Youthful Star Shoots 76 for 290 Total; Hitz Second.

DICK LUNN, 18-year-old Chevy Chase shotmaker, added more laurels to his golfing crown yesterday when he scored a 76 for a 72-hole total of 290 to win the Chevy Chase Club championship, leading his nearest opponent by ten strokes.

Runner-up in the event, which opened Tuesday, was Fred Hitz, who registered a 300. Following Hitz came Beverly Mason, with a 309, and C. Ashmead Fuller, with a 319.

Young Lunn's 76 yesterday came within 3 strokes of equaling his 73 of the day before, and 9 of equaling his brilliant card of 67 on Wednesday. His other card for the four-day event was a 74, registered the first day.

Hitz, Mason and Fuller got into quite a bit of trouble with their shots yesterday. The heat and their off-form cost them 80, 78 and 86, respectively.

WHITEHILL HURLS NATS TO VICTORY

too fast for his head and he overran Sewell's fly, eventually dropping it, as Bluege scored. Whitehill popped a pitch high overhead in the vicinity of the pitcher's box while Ferrell, McManus and Weiland went into conference concerning who would get the put-out. It developed into a nonaggression pact, with none making the play and permitting the ball to drop safely in the infield while Sewell cantered home from second.

Up to that point Whitehill hadn't been damaged. Bluege and Cronin made successive fumbles in the sixth to put two runners on, but Schulte and Goslin sprinted far afield to haul down long flies by Alexander and Friberg.

Alexander punched out a single to open the ninth. Friberg singled him to second. One was out and Whitehill had eyes on a shut-out when Oliver rammed a liner to the box. Whitehill caught the ball and turned to throw to Myer for a double play and retire the Sox scoreless for the day, but his throw was wild and presented Werber with the opportunity to bat out a single and win Boston's only round.

DANIEL RIOS - dark Mexican boy of Catalina Island, Cal., HAS A TWIN BROTHER WITH WHITE SKIN AND FAIR HAIR!

STILL agile enough to keep his balance on a swaying slender cable nearly 600 feet above the ground, 70-year-old Ivy Baldwin, daredevil of Eldorado Springs, Colo., is a striking example of acrobats of the old school. Baldwin began his training as an acrobat when he was a child.

For 26 years, since 1907, he has crossed a cable 635 feet long between two rocks 582 feet above the ground at Eldorado Springs, on an average of once a week. The cable is more than three times as high as the Brooklyn Bridge and about 2 blocks long. It takes Baldwin an average of 6 minutes to cross it, although he has gone from one end to the other in half that time. On another occasion he was stranded in the middle of it, and had to cling to the cable for three-quarters of an hour while a hailstorm raged about him.

In addition to his Eldorado Springs feat, which made him famous, he has toured with circus acts and has barnstormed throughout the world.

When science classified twins as like, unlike, Siamese, &c., it made no provision for the twins born to Mrs. Rios, Mexican mother, on Catalina Island, Calif. Twins are alike—except for color. Daniel, black hair and dark skin, is a typical Mexican youngster, while Lionel, white hair and fair skin, is an albino.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

MILK PRICE SLASH PLANNED TO BLOCK PROBE, IS REPORT

However, Thorough Inquiry Is Certain on Probable Monopoly Status.

By DANIEL B. MAHER.

The aim of prominent dairy interests is to forestall the pending Senate inquiry into local milk prices by forming a price agreement between distributors and producers under the supervision of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, it was learned yesterday.

By an adjustment of prices, dairy interests expect public clamor for the investigation will be appeased.

When this has been done the dairy interests, expect that the Senate inquiry will be dropped, it is understood.

For several days the rumor has been going the rounds in dairy circles that the pending inquiry would be simply a formality, because, before it can get under way, it is expected by certain distributors that a new price scale would be approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Then, the milk interests expect, public demand for an investigation would be requited by the new price scale.

Success of Maneuver Doubted.

That the dairy interests could be successful in this maneuver is doubted very seriously by those in close touch with the milk price situation.

One of the strongest reasons for believing that the milk inquiry will be thorough is the fact that the instigator of the investigation is Senator William H. King (Democrat), of Utah, who is noted for persistency and bulldog tenacity.

Furthermore, Senator King's objective in starting the inquiry was double-edged. He wants to know whether prices here are being maintained at a high level by a monopoly, and he wants to know whether there is a monopoly of milk distribution in the District. He is particularly interested in ferreting out the facts surrounding the control of milk distribution in the District.

Thorough Investigation Sure.

Any adjustment of milk prices at this time, even though it might have the sanction of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, would reach only one of the objectives of the fight for lower milk prices. The other objective—the determination whether a monopoly is in control here—would remain unachieved.

Those who are conversant with the milk question are certain that an adjustment of prices at this time would not lessen the vigor of the inquiry, but that the investigation will continue until it is learned whether there is a monopoly in local milk distribution.

HOUSE GROUP TODAY ACTS ON ALLEY BILL

Mrs. Norton Sees Passage of $500,000 Measure; Rainey Silent.

A special meeting of the House District Committee has been called for 10:30 a. m. today, when an effort will be made by Chairman Mary T. Norton to get a favorable report on the Capper bill for rehabalitating Washington's inhabited alleys.

The alley measure, which passed the Senate early this week, establishes $500,000 as a rotating fund for beginning the work of cleaning out the most objectionable inhabited sections of Washington's alley system.

Although no definite promise has been made by Speaker Rainey, Mrs. Norton believes the House will have ample time to pass the measure before adjournment. She called the special meeting immediately following her return to Washington yesterday.

COUNTESS WITHOUT BAIL STILL IN JAIL

Noblewoman Fails to Raise Necessary $15,000 in Extortion Charge.

Failing to get bail, the Countess Grace de Benque was still under detention at the District Jail last night pending her hearing on charges of blackmailing Miss Louise Maret, coproprietor of a school for girls.

Bond had first been set at $25,000 for the Countess de Benque. Later this was reduced to $15,000 but she had been unable last night to obtain her release at this figure.

George A. Gormley, 2262 Hall place northwest, purported accomplice of the noblewoman in the alleged blackmailing episode, was under detention at the Fifth Precinct Station. A bail of $25,000 is asked for his freedom pending the formal hearing on the charges.

SPECIAL POLICEMAN IS HELD TO JURY IN SHOOTING AT HOTEL

Holland's Bond Is $5,000 Which Counsel Seeks to Reduce.

Elmer Holland, 25-year-old special policeman, last night was held in the District Jail under $5,000 bond as the result of a coroner's jury decision yesterday to hold him for grand jury action in connection with fatal shooting early Thursday of Mrs. Leila Morrison.

Although Holland maintained determinedly that the discharging of his pistol was accidental and incident to a joke, the jury held that Mrs. Morrison died of gunshot wounds sustained from a weapon held in Holland's hand.

Lighter Bond Sought.

Attorney Lucian Vandoren has been retained by Holland's father and yesterday attempted to have a lighter bail set for the youth's release pending grand jury action. He was represented as believing the $5,000 bond asked as being excessive, thinking $1,500 a more equitable figure under the circumstances. Late last night young Holland was still in the District Jail.

Holland testified that he was "awful drunk" at the time of the shooting.

"I was feeling pretty good—kind of happy," he said, "so I took out my pistol."

The accused man, Melvin Rock and Matthew Logan, 24-year-old bellhop, at the Franklin Park Hotel, scene of the shooting, told of the discharge of Holland's pistol and homicide squad detectives told of their investigation disclosing the bullet's course.

Bullet Grazes Bellhop.

The missile grazed the elbow of Logan, it was testified, and then ripped through the composition board of the wall inclosing the apartment of Fred Williamson Mrs. Morrison's fiance. Williamson and Mrs. Morrison were lying on the bed a few feet from the wall.

The bullet clipped the woman's ear, it was declared, and then buried in her chest, causing almost instant death.

Mrs. Morrison's body last night was in the undertaking establishment of W. W. Chambers, but no funeral services have yet been arranged. So far none of her relatives have been located and it is expected Williamson will take care of her burial. She was the mother of a 10-year-old daughter.

Veteran's Death Is Probed On Possibility of Homicide

Detectives Work on Theory Elmer Rogers, Former Soldiers' Home Resident, May Have Been Victim of Hoboes Along Tracks.

A quiet but intensive investigation of circumstances leading to the death of Elmer Rogers, 61-year-old former resident of the Soldiers' Home here, is being pursued by the homicide squad of the Police Department, it was learned last night.

Possibility that he was knocked senseless by hoboes as he sat along the railroad tracks near Terra Cotta, D. C., on Memorial Day morning was admitted as was the possibility that he was beaten to unconsciousness during a drinking brawl.

Rogers' watch, new shoes and panama hat were stripped from him when police came upon him nearly 24 hours after he left his lodgings at the home of William C. Ehlers, 13 Rock Creek Church road, adjacent to the Soldiers' Home grounds.

The elderly veteran could not explain why he was in such a disheveled, water-soaked condition. The police took him to the Ehlers' home and later to Gallinger Hospital. He died June 3.

To release the body for burial, Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald issued a temporary certificate of death from natural causes, the final cause of Rogers' demise having been double pneumonia, resulting from the long exposure in the inclement weather.

Dr. MacDonald said Rogers was cut about the right eye, had sustained a slight concussion of the brain, a bruise on his hip and a cut on the back of his head. A coroner's jury was sworn in over the body in the event evidence is uncovered to warrant a formal inquest.

Sergt. John C. Dalglish, veteran investigator, is in charge of the inquiry. So far he has developed theories which include assault with robbery as a motive; an attack during a drinking brawl by companion who left Rogers and the stealing of the watch by a chance thief, and the possibility that Rogers pawned the watch to obtain liquor and then sustained his injuries through a fall.

The death of Rogers has proved a heavy blow to little Billy Doleman, of 21 Rock Creek Church road. Bill, now 4 years old, had been the pet of Rogers ever since he was a baby in arms and the boy returned the affection.

Every day Rogers, whom Billy called "Ol' Man," used to take the chubby lad for strolls in the mornings and afternoons and the two were almost inseparable. Both parents of Billy were attached to Rogers.

After Rogers died, no relatives could be located and the Dolemans, in conjunction with the Spanish War Veterans' organization here, arranged for the funeral. Billy has not yet been informed of the death of his pal.

TODAY IS DEADLINE ON BEER TAX FILING

Approximately 500 Retail Dealers Must Report or Lose Permits.

Approximately 500 retail beer dealers must file returns on sales made in May at the District tax assessor's office today or else get their reports in the mail before midnight to preserve their temporary licenses, District officials announced late yesterday.

With but one day remaining, 300 dealers filed returns yesterday and paid $2,520 in taxes at the rate of $1 a barrel. This brought the total reports to 1,269 and the tax to $11,684.

Despite earlier predictions that the May tax would reach between $18,000 and $20,000, reports so far have shown one barrel less per licensee than April sales, although many permit holders reported on but two weeks or less in their April returns.

The average sales per licensee in April was nine barrels, while reports so far for May have shown but eight barrels.

PLASTERERS $14 PAY DELAYS NORMALCY ARCHITECTS ASSERT

Opinion Sent to Contractors Holds Scale Obstacle to New Building.

The prevailing District plasterer's wage scale of $14 per day was termed an obstacle to the return of normal building conditions at a meeting yesterday of the Executive Committee of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Architects.

This opinion, forwarded to the Plastering Contractors Association by Francis P. Sullivan, president of the Washington chapter, will also be forwarded to Secretary of Labor Perkins, who has been called upon to adjust the prevailing wage.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor recently called Mrs. Perkins' attention to the $14 wage scale here on Government buildings, pointing out that elsewhere on private contracts, the rate was almost universally $10 per day.

However, members of the plasterers union here contended that at the time the Government contracts were let the price was not out of line. They indicated that on future private and Government jobs they would adhere to an adjustment.

A conference between plastering contractors and union plasterers, at which contractors pointed out that members of other building trades had accepted a reduction on contracts now in operation, it was indicated that the plasterers might agree to a reduction of $2 per day, as did the lathers recently.

Court Cuts Fox Theater Rent to $150,000 Year

Jutice James M. Proctor yesterday in District Supreme Court signed an order permitting Lawrence B. Campbell, receiver for the National Press Building, Fourteenth and F streets northwest, to reduce the rental paid by the Loews Fox Theater to $150,000 a year.

The rent, it was shown, had been $216,250 a year. Attorney Walter M. Bastian, representing the receiver, filed a motion with Justice Proctor asking for instructions, and the reduced figure was ordered by Justice Proctor when he was told that the theater was then two months in arrears in its rent.
